

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: [Scammed by: dogecoin \[UID=2480905\] \[\$210\]](#)

Headdy - March 22, 2015, 2:59 am

Okay.. So basically I was trying to sell my Clash of Clans account (See here). by THIS user.

I'll start off with saying I was being really stupid. I'm not upgraded, thus I can only have 50PM's in my inbox. I've been pretty active lately and my inbox kept being full, so I cleared my messages (probably daily) and I accidentally removed the proof. I know this sounds REALLY fishy, but I did it by accident and had no means of creating a deal dispute without proof.

The only proof I have is this message:

Spoiler (Click to View)

and rep

Spoiler (Click to View)

We've had a lot (yes, a lot) of conversations about this deal. He asked me if he could buy it for $210. I agreed. He told me I should go first since I was regular. (I know, his rep was still positive back then so I "trusted" him). I went first, gave him the account and waited. There was still some odd activity on the account (I didn't know about..!) and he asked me to stop using the account. I double-check my device and after a few days he stopped asking me so I thought it was gone (and it was).

I've asked him several times to send them money. He had his hands on my account, even though I lost it already. I was obviously pretty annoyed by his attitude, since he kept telling me he was going to pay pretty soon. I gave him his time, but after a few weeks I still didn't receive my money.

I PM'ed him for about 2 weeks straight now (not spammy, just asking what the progress is). I didn't receive a message back apart from that message where he asked me if I knew who used the Android code. (I did, so I replied that I did, duh.)

I'm done with this guy. I'd be really happy to receive my money, because he's probably enjoying my great Clash of Clans account.

If the user doesn't reply soon, I'll contact Apple to try and get my account back. I know it's possible, and I won't give up. But obviously, this is one of my first deals, (I've never really "sold" anything before) thus means I don't want to end it like this. An $210 payment from him would just solve the problem.

So again I would like to say that I'm so so so sad that I lost all the proof, but I hope this story is enough. I'll be happy to provide more information though.

There are no activity signs of him even though Factor8 said that he was a multi-accounter, which didn't really make me happy and hopeful.

Thank you so much for reading this. Have a nice day,

Headdy

Sun Diego - March 22, 2015, 4:40 am

Well, did you not even check his rep?

Headdy - March 22, 2015, 4:42 am

(Mar 22, 2015 04:40 AM)Connexion. Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Well, did you not even check his rep?
I did, but this was a few weeks ago when he had a positive rep. :x

brokers - March 22, 2015, 4:43 am sucks to hear that, good luck getting it back :(

Headdy - March 22, 2015, 4:43 am

(Mar 22, 2015 04:43 AM)brokers Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) sucks to hear that, good luck getting it back :(
Thank you, mate. I hope I'll get it back!

Ah, I found this:

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

Headdy - March 25, 2015, 1:52 pm

UPDATE: I found my way in the CoC account. I'm trying to finish this deal friendly, I hope he supports my plan and just pays the money.

I'm replied on the CoC chat so he will definitely read it, so I hope he responds and stays friendly too.

Protein Shake - March 26, 2015, 3:15 am

He probably won't, Ub3rs love to scam regular members. Since an admin has dropped him a rep, I doubt he'll be repaying you baha, probably already made a new account to scam more people tbh.

Money Makin Mitch - March 26, 2015, 7:28 am

Very sad to see hope you resolve it bro

ICE ? - March 26, 2015, 7:29 am

Why would you deal with someone whom has -19 rep?

G???????f????s? - March 26, 2015, 7:32 am

(Mar 26, 2015 07:29 AM)ICE ? Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Why would you deal with someone whom has -19 rep?
Don't you read? This was when he had positive reputation.

Headdy - March 26, 2015, 8:38 am

(Mar 26, 2015 07:32 AM)G???????f????s? Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Don't you read? This was when he had positive reputation.
Thanks :P

(Mar 26, 2015 07:29 AM)ICE ? Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Why would you deal with someone whom has -19 rep?
Grandthefthorse already said so, but I'll tell you again. He didn't have a great, trustful, or high rep, but it was my first deal, so I trusted him since we talked before giving him access to the account, obviously he was really nice and quick in response.

PROGRESS:

I've been talking to him since yesterday. I told him the story, he told me I was being a "joker", told his friend I was accessing through Android (No, I'm not saying I am, I'm not telling how I can access the account, there is no need to) and he said he was going to contact Supercell.

I've asked him to finish this deal in a friendly way. I'm waiting for his response now. I hope we can resolve this.

Headdy - April 7, 2015, 6:24 am

Wow. This user is really smart.

I called Apple support and they helped me. I was calling with them for about an hour since they really wanted to fix this for me, but unfortunately this scammer has been really smart and even Apple support can't get access inside the account (2-step verification locks them from accessing the account). I was redirected to a different guy, but this guy was the supervisor so he tried to get access too, but no success.

He told me that Apple secures your account (100%) after you've set up 2-step verification. This is so well protected, nobody apart from the owner of the account and his device(s) can access the account. (He said that this method was unsaturated; only a small amount of "hackers" use this)

He also said that he could report this to his boss, but it would take no effect.

I'm actually really sad. I lost 210$ on this and I'll never see it back, and Dogecoin still has my account. ?

I was happy that Apple was so supportive and really wanted to get it back.

Thank you for reading, I will close this right now since the user has ignored me and I don't think he will reply. ?

Goodbye,

Headdy