Thread: How do I upload a custom template to weebly

Special Ed - March 22, 2015, 6:14 am

Okay I bought the bushiness weebly plan so I have the option to upload my own template but I don't understand how to. I have a shit load of custom temps in rar files but I can't get them to upload. This is what weebly says..

"upload your own custom theme, the custom theme format details:

- A zip file containing your theme

- Template Layout data in a file called index.html

- Style information in a file called main_style.css

- All image files associated with your theme

- All files must be in the root directory of your zip archive. Any files in a subdirectory will not be imported"

What am I suppose to do here? I download a template, then I zip it and try to upload it but it doesn't work. Am I suppose to zip the whole template file and upload it?

It tells you exactly what to do.

1. Unzip your file
2. Find the index.html and put it in a new folder called template.zip
3. Find your css file and rename it "main_style.css"
4. move your main_style.css file to template.zip
5. in the original zip look for a folder called "images" | go in there, copy all of the images, and paste them into the template.zip folder
6. Zip the folder "template.zip"
7. Upload it

Fuck man I have .02 bitcoins sitting around if I find a decent template and send it to you could you do that for me in exchange for my bitcoins? Because I keep getting "only zip files are accepted" error everytime I try to upload it, this is pissing me off

Yeah, I'd be willing to do it.

Pm me, might need to discuss the price, as I don't use BC.

I just offered the BC because it was laying around and not being put to use. I'll probably just pay someone to build a website for me if I have to pay cash.
