

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Novice in need of aid!

pureshadow717 - March 25, 2015, 9:12 pm

Greetings! I've just bought myself a keylogger to use for work, but i'm rather dimwitted when it comes to most of these options that are available... It's a basic keylogger I believe for one, and i'm trying to set it up to properly send me logs from the planted computers without having that individual know its there, as well as have the keylogger self destruct or destroy itself if it is caught. Now.. Here is my problem, most of the things in the settings its asking me are things I have no idea what it means.

So I shall post screenshots of all the settings I have turned on and off, if someone could guide me into setting this up correctly without ruining anything that would be great, as well as give me a few definitions on what a few of the options do.

imgur.com/a/wRHfs

What settings should i enable/disable to ensure this product to work correctly?

What do all those options mean in the first and second screenshot as well, haha. Thank you very much for the help!

doggmatic19 - March 26, 2015, 5:51 am

Bro if you can add me on skype I will help you set it up on Team Viewer. And the undetectable feture of your keylogger when it runs depends on your crypter too and not only the setting you put on that keylogger. [/align]

Anubis - March 26, 2015, 6:13 am

Since you're using Galaxy Logger, I'd suggest you to contact the owner of the keylogger, since he'd be able to help you the best.