Thread: Sales Tags

Omniscient - March 26, 2015, 2:06 pm

You can see yourself what Sales Tags are here:

Marketplace Discussions

I will be implementing a plugin to allow these eye-catching sales tags in the Marketplace shortly. I need more images though.

The current ones I have are 100x40 but I want to slim them slightly to 100x36 pixels.

I'd like to see what additional images members can create for the site.

Specs are simple enough

Size: 100x36

Background colors: Red, Orange, Yellow, Green and Blue (design eye catching backgrounds that are like sales tags in stores)

Format: Gif because the images should be transparent background to deal with the mouseover effect.

Text color: White (I want white only) Font has to be very readable. Prefer Verdana 12pt Bold most likely. 11 pt if text is long

Here is example text but you're not limited to these alone:

Please make these transparent .PNG, it would look so much nicer with the hover css.

The Illusionist - March 26, 2015, 2:10 pm

Very nice update, one thing I do miss though is a option to add numbers with a $ sign in the tag, so people could advertise the cost of there product in a nice way.

Other than that nice tags gives the thread a little bit of extra attention :).

I really don't like them atm, hope some of you guys come up with some nice fitting tags.

Till then adblock will be my hero.

How will you set these images for the thread title? My BB code or will there be a button to do it?

I think I'd really like this Omni - can't wait for it's full release.

Arizonalce - March 26, 2015, 2:24 pm

I've seen a few threads with this feature, looks really good and a nice idea. I hope it doesn't clutter the marketplace.

Is there any way to use it now?

How will people use them? Will it be automatic, sold or will you put them how you feel is best?

Hope it's how you feel is best or some are automatic.

A really nice idea Tho, keep it up.

Just curious, what browsers do not support transparent PNGs? All modern/updated do from what I found on Google; it's only IE6 that doesn't support them. Anyways, a tip for everyone who will make Sales Tags, since it will be transparent GIF, make sure you change the "Matte" color to HF's BG color, #333333. What the "Matte" color does is add a #333333 color edge on where the color turns into alpha channel. Most GIFs you see have white edges, it turns white into that grey.

You can make transparant gifs, no need for a background color :)

However I agree to making them .png instead of .gif, almost all browsers support transparant .png formats. (i actually didn't know IE6 did not support it, although who still runs IE6?)

Kind of like this, I'd like to see a rule that people with an open scam report can't buy this tag for their service. (Even though staff don't get involved with trades etc.) I have a feeling that this help the community.

Some GIFs require a matte color when multiple colors are involved from I remember learning from experience. Matte color places a background color on semi-alpha areas, but I suppose HF's bg color is dark enough to not show a difference.

Any possibility we can have the tags not viewable in 'New Posts' or make an entirely new 'new posts' section for the marketplace altogether?

It's a little strange seeing a few threads with tags and all non-marketing

Omniscient - March 26, 2015, 9:37 pm

@Designer...excellent as usual. I will use them. Zip them up for me please and feel free to make more.

This thread btw is about me trying to get the graphics for this. It's not about the feature.

@Majestic12 those aren't bad but they appear to be outside my required 100x36 size. I do need these to be uniform in size in order to look right in the thread listing.

@iHydra...those also are pretty good.

Realistically I don't see a reason not to have dozens of these as choices for sellers.

@omni Looks neat, nice feature by the way. Even though it would be weird to see multiple #1seller things for example.

It'd be fairly annoying to see 10 same things on a page too(probably won't happen as people want to be different from others) but nonetheless it's a nice addition.

I feel like the colors should be blues and neutrals. Having bright red, orange, yellow, etc really sticks out and doesn't seem to go with the color scheme of the site.

Honestly, seeing some of the bright colored ones, it makes me think of something like this

Which doesn't seem to go with the site.

Of course, if the colors went with the site scheme, it would be much much better.
