Not really sure why do you have to make new thread but whatever.
Good luck with your group! ?

I really enjoy being in this group, was totally worth writing Fortune on my forehead. If you sell products you can endorse them as "Fortune Approved" if you ask PositiveEnergy, and you can make a whole lot of money, just from a userbar.

Aceman - March 28, 2015, 12:27 pm

Isn't this the 4th or 5th time the group has sold buy ins just to have all of them wiped? I know you mentioned in the SF that there might be a rebrand coming up, are you going to keep all the members or kick them?

If there is a rebrand it will just be a new userbar. Also nobody would be kicked everyone will get the month they paid for regardless

Aceman - March 28, 2015, 12:33 pm

Just wanted to mention this is called a membership fee for a subscription based plan, not a buy in. A buy in would be a one-time thing.

MrOrang - March 28, 2015, 12:43 pm

Yup Enterprise V2 confirmed now.

Nice group, be sure to buy in as it's very hq!

I actually like the pot idea, but damn $10.

Ok, I get it. It's not like you let anybody in, you still screen people and it gives everyone a chance to get started in a group. I personally like the $10 a month idea.

Exactly, no anyone can buy in but anyone who isn't a fuck boy can. Obviously I don't accept scammers, the community is blowing it out of proportion while I am trying to change Fortune. It doesn't matter how much a buy in is it matters that we actually contribute which we might not contribute ALOT but we do contribute anyway we could possibly get set up in my 8 days of taking over.

Neil - March 29, 2015, 11:40 am

If you were to do buy-ins, you should have just put the buy-in option in your recruitment thread.

I feel like this would have been a better idea instead of making a whole new thread just for buy-ins.

Just my two cents tho.

Why not just do what other groups do (ex.L'appel du vide) where you keep the recruitment open forever (so you don't need to make new threads constantly) and you can just add people in when you are looking to hold a new recruitment. That way, people already applied and you have an idea of who and who you shouldn't invite to the group.

No, I'm saying not make them in the name of the group, but for himself. If I was a HF business man, I'd buy-into a leadership spot and then use a programming sector to find the best coders to later make products for me.

What happened to the Vices group? If you're interested in money you'd probably make some if you did like $35+ buy-ins for a Vices group and was really active within it to keep it going lol.
