50 SMS for $3 is a great deal.

But im confused. Im a developer. I know how an SMS Bomber works lol... I have created one before. Im just saying this is outrageous. SMSes dont cost money. Its bullshit.

It doesn't cost shit to send SMS messages. I run my own dedicated server with a dedicated mail server that does that and its free. You just use SMS Gateways.

I honestly do not get where people get these "credits" from. Its outrageous how much people charge for this.

What do you mean the user buys the "SMSes" You cant buy SMS? Im not trying to start a argument here but i'm just confused.

Is that a google account?

And you can send it out for free. I do that. I send like 500 messages per refresh Its not that hard. Why does everybody think its so hard :/

There is a huge different with spoofing the SMS for free with carrier gateways.

Let me give you an example, there are a few carriers in my country that do not have public gateways. How the fuck are you supposed to spoof those?

And let me give you another example, I am sending a message to 100 people. How the fuck am I supposed to know the carriers of all these people. In my country there are 15 carriers.

With this web based tool, you do not need to enter anything else than the phone number you are spoofing and the phone number of the "victim".

Huge, huge different.
