Thread: dude just sent me prepaid visa deets?

strangertongues - March 29, 2015, 2:11 pm

he's given me the number, expiry, security, EVERYTHING. said i can use it on mygiftcardsite... is this safe? should i jump on it or do you think no matter what i do he's gonna fuck me over and get the money back? i don't really know how this shit works.

Why not just add the funds to paypal?

You can give it a try worst case it won't work. This is why I stick to affiliate marketing.

You can checkout real items and send near your street. Depends of your country.

someone gave me the details for an american express gift card once. I used it for what he told me to use it for (to buy a gift card) and it worked fine.

Don't use it unless you know what you're doing. Wouldn't recommend it though.

1. If you have Google Wallet or Apple Pay, add the card to your cards and go buy something with your smart phone.
2. Just pay for something online. The worst case scenario is that he calls them up and refutes the charge, but I don't think prepaid cards are given this protection.

"Can u teach me how to deets"

Maybe it's just me, but I laughed way too fucking hard at this.

Good job gravedigging a 3 year old thread, at least I got a laugh out of it
