Do not middle man steam items. I did that for a friend and i did it on my main account to another account and to another and then again into another main account that i had, ended up getting banned and i regret it to this day.

What are you talking about? another another then another another another another.

I am simply doing an extra security step for people that want to trade their weapons for pp/btc/crypto.

Just stopping by to say that Mafia II was the first game I beat after I built my new PC. It was epic.

Ontopic: good service you have here, keep up the good work
