Thread: I'm about to start crying a breakdown seriously

Arctic Wolf - April 3, 2015, 8:55 pm

My little brother George still in PICU and fighting a mystery illness. Rough week for him as he was med flighted to Rochester on Tuesday evening after suffering a 30 minute seizure...something he has never experienced and high fever. EMT and ER saved his life and kept him alive. Heroes in my book! Doctors here at the Mayo frantically stayed by his side and as of yesterday afternoon he appeared to stabilize. Last night his breathing got worse and depleted before our eyes so back to the PICU by 9 pm. Cpap on high all night as we waited. Got worse and by 7 am moved to Bipap with light sedation. Does not make sense. Blood looks good. Urine looks good. No signs of infection and seizures now but why is his breathing so bad is the question that baffles everyone here. We are staying strong with prayers and prayers but we all feel helpless at this point. A few more days in PICU is planned at appts here everyday next week. Teams and teams of doctors are researching what could this be. Adding to the complexity is his rare diagnosis of Mowat Wilson Syndrome.

I don't know what to do anymore because the doctors say he will probably pass away. ???????

Edit: I asked for pictures and here he is for those who think I'm trolling:

I'm sorry buddy. Stay positive everything will be alright my friend :)

Zero - April 3, 2015, 11:34 pm

This sounds like something out of House. Sorry for the bad luck op. I hope your brother pulls through. Don't give up.

Belfort - April 3, 2015, 11:34 pm

Skype me dude, I will try to help you "Evternal"

Ya3goob - April 3, 2015, 11:44 pm

well,

god will take him where he can take rest .. he will be happy there

so just stay positive and remember that everyone is going to die soon or later .. so if he gets it now he will be happy

sorry my friend

Arctic Wolf - April 4, 2015, 12:08 am

I will never give up on him, he is my brother and I will never I mean never give up on him.

Isabelle - April 4, 2015, 12:12 am

Has he had an xray done on his chest and head yet? Odd breathing, seizures, and everything else points to brain tumor, imo. I might be biased though since I've had to deal with that twice in our family and extended family.

I do wish the best for you OP. I understand how hard it can be, especially when people don't know what's wrong. I honestly hope and pray for the best outcome.

Arctic Wolf - April 4, 2015, 12:14 am

They have literally done everything to him to find a cause and they just can't.

thales - April 4, 2015, 12:18 am

I wish your family the best op. I've had really hard life troubles the past few years and know how it hurts the whole family. Stay strong my man. Message me if you ever need to.

Edit: Op, could the seizures be due to the Mowar-Wilson Syndrome? Wikipedia: This autosomal dominant disorder is characterized by a number of health defects including Hirschsprung's disease, mental retardation, epilepsy <----- Since your brother's brain is still developing, it is possible that he had his first seizure then instead of before?

Arctic Wolf - April 4, 2015, 12:26 am

I have seen people die in front of me because of the military but I can't seem to...well you know.

I cannot see him due to financial difficulties. I am a college student with very little income.

He is in Wisconsin and I am in Texas and cannot see him.

DARPA - April 4, 2015, 3:05 am

May 1000 tigers protect him as he sleeps.

Arctic Wolf - April 4, 2015, 12:42 pm

The thing is I don't want him to pass away, he's pretty much my child even even though he's my brother.

CupHead - April 4, 2015, 12:57 pm

Why is there a scar in the middle of his chest? Did he have a surgery before this happened? If so it could be from the past surgery

Arctic Wolf - April 4, 2015, 1:21 pm

There is a scar in the middle of his chest because he had open heart surgery so doctors could fix the hole in his heart that he was born with.

I sent you some money man hope it helps Payment Sent (Unique Transaction ID: 3WV11990R6384934D)

IndeXer - April 4, 2015, 1:31 pm

Don't worry bro, your brother will not be passed away & will be completely alright, you love him like your own child, not your brother, I will pray to god. I am so sorry.

Go to New Jersey and contact Gregory House.

SIM-1676753 - April 4, 2015, 1:34 pm

That's so sad man. I hope your brother recovers.

Marquees Turing - April 4, 2015, 1:36 pm

Stay strong bud!

And this can be the case: <http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Epilepsy>

eiqhtz - April 4, 2015, 1:37 pm

You should try using GoFundMe.com

Perhaps you'll get more donations from people. Sorry about this OP.

OP, it sounds like you've been through a lot. ?

I'd like to say that I wish you and your little brother the best. I hope that he'll recover. Please keep up the hope and head. Don't settle with your thoughts already, there is a possibility for him to get through this.

I hope he'll get better OP.

Love,

Headdy

Teen La Queefa - April 4, 2015, 1:38 pm

Good luck to your bro best wishes from me <3

Sagax - April 4, 2015, 2:13 pm

Make a GoFundMe page man.

It'll make it easier to donate.

It'll make it easier to donate. I second this! I just sent you what remaining balance I had in my coinbase account. I truly wish you best of luck. Your story is truly touching and I hope for nothing but the best for you, your family and especially your brother!! <3

Arctic Wolf - April 4, 2015, 2:40 pm

I am making a gofund me page right now as we speak.

Thank you for the ideas.

Yoshikage Kira - April 4, 2015, 2:40 pm

I'm sorry to hear that, I wish him the best of luck :).

Love,

HeaddyYeah,

I've been through a lot lately and I am praying for him everyday and every night.

I only want to see him get better.

Market - April 4, 2015, 2:54 pm

I hope he makes it,

keeping him in prayers. will try to donate when i get my paycheck.

He's a great fella :) the fact that he has a great brother like you makes it better.

Don't give false hope, that's cruel.

EthanX - April 4, 2015, 3:26 pm

Prayers go out to you and your family. Same thing happened to my sister except it was a hard condition and it took her life away at only 3 months old. She was fine, next day she was in critical condition. I feel you. It's not easy.

I hope he gets better.

Thanks Ethan,

It's hard and I seriously hope he makes it.
