I like it seems simplistic, and easy on the eyes. Nice work.

It seems like these past themes (Hex, Winter, etc) are just the same theme styled differently. Why not make it a customizable theme and then release different styles for it?

No offence but, you changed the corners of the textbox and progressbar to be rounded and added a gradient to most controls (and you recolored it ofcourse)

But maybe you made an entirely new theme, that would mean great job man!

And a tip for your next theme, integrate the controlbox into the main form. (just like in ReaperTheme)

Just use a mouse over, mouse down and mouse up event and check if the cursor is over the target area then color the buttons accordingly.

I agree with what some users said.

Your themes (at least the last 2) are much alike.

But of course you are contributing to the community so I don't complain and I really thank you for sharing your themes.

Just trying to make a constructive opinion so you can improve your themes. ?

you must also add tab control to your themes..
