Thread: Please check lads, would this be of service?

Getting straight to the point: Ok so I mastered the fine arts of making installers. Whatever it is, I can re-create the installers you want

- IDM/Photoshop Portable/YTD/7-zip/Winrar/Firefox
- PRETTY MUCH ALMOST EVERYTHING.

Now the catch is this: Since this is a hacking forum, I thought of offering it as a service where they could choose a selection of features they want to add to the specific installer:

NOTE THAT SINCE ITS AN INSTALLER, THE USER GRANTS UAC PRIVILEGES TO THE APP, SO ONCE GIVEN THE UAC ACCESS, OUR INSTALLER IS PRETTY MUCH LIMITLESS.

The following features could be made(everything with UAC privileges):

Code - Install an application to a specific location

- Open a website, open an ads
- Install a Windows Service
- Run a raw *.exe application with the same admin privileges
- Install a toolbar or any sort of
- Silent install ANY pre-requisites of your bot/rat (let's say, .net framework 2.0 because you're a noobish faggot, I can make the installer make the user REQUIRE the framework in order to run your bot/rat; note that even if it's .net framework or java, i can)
- Add Scheduled Tasks as execute your app in whatever interval (once an hour, a day, a week or even a year if you want)

The question is, could there be really any demand in this forum for this type of service? A service where we create customized Application Installer clones that installs bad apps with legitimate apps.

Help a brotha out and tell me what you think, gracias adios!

Hola,

Yeah it sounds like a very interesting service. The fact that you say you can install bad apps simultaneously with legitimate apps would interest a lot of the ratters in this community.

EDIT: I say give it a try and see how it goes. Won't hurt to try. :)

Fuckin great man, I'd give you some smooch on your cheeks if I can :) haha.

If this ever sells I'll give you 5% of the sales for motivating me haha, I just hope I can find some lads to make a team about it - I'm also thinking of starting a spreader team throughout the forum where we have this third party site that the installer can connect so we can track the number of installs we make per day

I'm starting an empire, yaar!
