

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Is it wise to sell on Hackforums as a new member?

Online affiliator - April 9, 2015, 5:55 am

I've been on the forums for around 1 hour and I can already tell new members get scammed by l33ts and ub3rs, And they get away with it.

I have a number of things to sell including 3 big facebook fan pages (Not spammed ones)

My question is, Is it wise to sell them right now? (It isn't the price I'm worried about, I've been an internet marketer for over 8 years now I won't get scammed via price) Or should I wait till I have little more posts and maybe l33t?

Thanks.

Angel Beats?? - April 9, 2015, 5:56 am

You can trade with trusted people or get a middle man.

Fr?sh - April 9, 2015, 5:56 am

Just deal with trusted people and you will be fine

Alex™ - April 9, 2015, 5:58 am

It would probably not be wise to use paypal.

Squidward - April 9, 2015, 6:15 am

Using a middleman would be your best bet, I can do this for you if you'd like.

Comedic - April 9, 2015, 6:38 am

Paypal = trusted people only

Bitcoin = anyone

Use a middleman as well. GI bro!

PsyKD - April 9, 2015, 6:52 am

I agree. I suggest that you deal with trusted members of the community and Paypal only for trusted people.

Don't get a chargeback against you!

sonex - April 9, 2015, 8:31 am

Honestly if someone wants to scam I doubt it matters whether you're L33t/Ub3r or whatever. Don't be dumb and double check who you deal with, also get 25 posts and deal through PM's so if shit goes south you at least have evidence.

webdev77 - April 9, 2015, 11:39 am

It doesn't matter what reputation, rank, or whatever stats they have. They can still scam you if they want to. I advise not dealing with anybody here unless you are willing to take a risk.

HFTetramorph - April 9, 2015, 3:40 pm

Yes, trade with a middle man if your trading over 100 dollars, and always trade with trusted members only, check the scam report section to find anything on them. If they still have an open unresolved scam report, don't deal with them. This can be overwhelming for a new member, if you need help determining if someone is a good guy to trade with, PM me.

Sharjah - April 9, 2015, 3:41 pm

When you get 25 posts, PM me who you plan on dealing with, and I'll tell u if they're trusted or not. But u can always just use an MM