

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: [Is paid-to-promote.net legit or scam? \[Help\]](#)

HeartBreakKid - April 10, 2015, 4:39 am

Hello everybody, i registered on Paid-to-promote.net after searching on google. But, after getting approximately 800 views on my website, on which i have added given link, i noticed no any change in the usage statistics of my account. If anybody used this site before please tell me.

If this site is not good to use, then tell me about other genuine sites if possible.
Thanks,

Azraelstear - April 10, 2015, 4:51 am

Just like 99,99% of PTP - waste of time. Nobody sells traffic that cheap, all bottled.

Also no serious business use WHOIS GUARD on domain.

HeartBreakKid - April 10, 2015, 4:58 am

(Apr 10, 2015 04:51 AM)Azraelstear Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Just like 99,99% of PTP - waste of time. Nobody sells traffic that cheap, all bottled.

Also no serious business use WHOIS GUARD on domain.

Can you guide me please why are there so may blogs and other information that giving proof of payment and all. And also one thing notices that people are giving their references everywhere as this method really works!!!!!!

Leusername - April 10, 2015, 4:30 pm

(Apr 10, 2015 04:58 AM)HeartBreakKid Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Can you guide me please why are there so may blogs and other information that giving proof of payment and all. And also one thing notices that people are giving their references everywhere as this method really works!!!!!!

It's called faked testimonials. Easy to do. You gotta be more skeptic on the internet dude. People lie. All the time!

mattswrxy - April 10, 2015, 7:35 pm

haha, what do people think happens lol

krishatnet - April 10, 2015, 7:48 pm

I have tried that site but low earnings better to avoid

HeartBreakKid - April 10, 2015, 8:16 pm

(Apr 10, 2015 07:48 PM)krishatnet Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I have tried that site but low earnings better to avoid That's true mate. I tried propeller ads, they are not fake but earnings are very low...

(Apr 10, 2015 04:30 PM)Leusername Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) It's called faked testimonials. Easy to do. You gotta be more skeptic on the internet dude. People lie. All the time!

I am shocked to see so many search results in google that are posting about the payment proof of PTP sites. Really mesmerizing that how people could promote fake things in good way on so much higher levels !!!

Leusername - April 11, 2015, 4:35 am

(Apr 10, 2015 08:16 PM)HeartBreakKid Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I am shocked to see so many search results in google that are posting about the payment proof of PTP sites. Really mesmerizing that how people could promote fake things in good way on so much higher levels !!!

Honestly, I didn't check it out when i replied. I replied on what my experience is with most things online. You still have to be a bit skeptic.

Now I've shortly googled them, and apparently they 1) redirects people with their ads. Some dude even got a mail from Google about it breaking their quality guidelines.

2), their pop-ups are aggressive and pops up more than just 1. That's mostly a pain in the rear for your visitors. You want to make money, but not piss off your audience. I'd stay clear of them.

HeartBreakKid - April 11, 2015, 7:33 am

(Apr 11, 2015 04:35 AM)Leusername Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Honestly, I didn't check it out when i replied. I replied on what my experience is with most things online. You still have to be a bit skeptic.

Now I've shortly googled them, and apparently they 1) redirects people with their ads. [url].

2), their pop-ups are aggressive and pops up more than just 1. That's mostly a pain in the rear for your visitors. You want to make money, but not piss off your audience. I'd stay clear of them. I got your point dude. It is really against the ethics that a computer programmer or engineer or even user should follow. :(

Ascent - April 11, 2015, 9:01 am

Probably fake, you shouldnt use it.

PPIRage - April 11, 2015, 11:14 pm

Its Bullshit i dont got Paid from them.

btw PTP is the shitties thing of Earth.

sonex - April 12, 2015, 12:53 am

(Apr 11, 2015 11:14 PM)HTCOne Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Its Bullshit i dont got Paid from them.

btw PTP is the shitties thing of Earth.

Finally someone else with a brain.

Closed.