Thread: [\[Preview\] Twitch Client](#)

ElementalTree - April 10, 2015, 12:20 pm

Hey guys, been working on this little thingy just for some competition :D

Haven't gotten so far into the project yet but this is what I have so far, give me some feedbackz:
Spoiler (Click to View)

Search icon and the line looks like some brownish color because of the gif recorder, shouldn't worry about that.

Better color quality image:

More features will be added when the time has come, I work on this when I have time. I'll release it once it's finished tho, this is just to show my progress (no h8)

Thanks to all the members on hf that have helped me throughout my time here on hf, much appreciated! ?

But.. but... people can just use their browsers? I mean, this is just a login for a browser that opens Twitch...

Does the client come with any form of AdBlock?

ElementalTree - April 10, 2015, 1:19 pm

I will try to implement adblocking but it's not 100% since I'm not familiar with that part
I have tried implementing it in earlier testing but failed

It's like saying "but why use the spotify application when you can just go to the website?", It's for fun and I mostly post stuff because this section is just otherwise full of questions. I just want to see some more stuff, thats all Applications instead of websites should be for larger features, higher compatiblity and better performances..

Worst thing to compare it to... its more like why have a hackforums app which just opens the website.

oh, so you mean like 90% of your threads?

ElementalTree - April 11, 2015, 8:21 pm

Yes I mean exactly like 90% of my threads, nathan
