Friends are basically people that you use when needed and they use you when needed. As long as the using is relatively equal then it's considered a good friendship. There's gonna be some usage, but as long as it doesn't go overboard then it should be all good. From what you've said so far I can't tell if you're not getting any use of the friend or not. If you're not then fuck that person and move on! Not getting my knife and I don't get anything in return.

I feel exactly like that. Not to be douchey or narcissistic but I would have to say I'm a pretty nice guy. People in this world love to take advantage over someones kindness or weakness, and that is very sad. Sorry about you and your friends.

I use to talk to him, I bought him a knife a long ass time ago, we used to be best friends, but I stopped talking to people as I was to busy with life and other shit, he never spent a single fucking penny on me though.

This always happens to me (read my older thread), I had a friend that pretty much lived in my house at the time, and I was talking to him about a person I hate, He has talked to the person I hated before, he then made me ride along on my bike up to a shady ass area where I got the shit beaten out of me...

Sounds like you choose the wrong people to be friends with OP, I personally only like having online friends and out of all of them I only have 4 that I trust and have been mates with for longer than 2 years. In saying this we obviously have times where we argue and shit talk then stop talking for like a month.

I prefer my own company so making friends IRL is fucking irritating for me.

EDIT: I also have spent money on them, bought them games and shit before. I only ever do this when I am financially able and never go in with the mindset of getting something in return.

Ouch mate. I know how it feels. A few close friends of mine have backstabbed and used me pretty bad lately. I haven't been feeling great because of it. I hope shit gets better man.

God of Destruction Beerus - April 11, 2015, 1:36 pm

People who swear they'll support you forever and then one day don't want anything to do with you anymore. I guess that's a form of "backstabbing".

I've had a lot of people try to use me for things. Not many people from my school know any people who are programmers so they try to make me program things and fix their computers.

Yeah. I've been used before too. This girl once acted like she was interested in me but it turns out she used me to make a drawing for her that she gave to her boyfriend.

Don't let them get to you man. It's not worth fretting over. Try and get some nicer friends and cut off toxic people.
