Thread: Scam Alert | Tags

If someone opens a scam report on you and puts your profile link in it, an admin should look over the report or anyone and judge, if the report is valid you can put a tag next to his profile name with the text warning, or make his username in a red color. I'm not sure if this is good, but it could be helpful to know who to deal with. And then until the scam report is resolved the owner of the thread can report it back And tell them to remove the tag or whatever. If this is stupid, just tell me and I'll close it.

EDIT: And when you click on the tag you get directed to the scam report.

There's already a plugin for this, but it'd be better to be official.

Unfortunately, Admins/Staff do not get involved with scam reports. Any deals on HF is at your own risk.

This would mean staff would have to get involved with scam reports.

Simpleness - April 11, 2015, 2:08 pm

this would be extremely helpful but HF is pretty much like a flee market the owner of the building doesn't get evolved if you get some bullshit items

EDIT: anyone see it this way or am i just simple?

I know Staff will not participate in scan reports, but can't omni make a group with people that is highly trusted and can do this job?

This is a fantastic idea. I love it. Thanks for making the suggestion.
