He was going to make me an xbox live code checker for $50 he wanted $25 upfront and $25 after completion. i paid the $25 upfront and he said it would take 4-5 hours so about 3 hours later he said it was finished and i asked to see proof over join.me and he said he was on his phone so it would be a few minutes then he got back and asked for the rest of the $25 and i said i wanted to see proof. he then asked for my btc address to refund me and said he sent it (didnt get anything) then blocked me on skype.

My account was compromised. The Guy was sending his skype to and deleting pm's of people inquiring about my coding services to scam them. I am doing the projects for the scammed users as best I can for free tho since this was done from my account.

NoSuchAgency - April 11, 2015, 4:42 pm

I can vouch that his account was actually compromised.

AppleJuice - April 11, 2015, 4:56 pm

I can also vouch that Tux's account was compromised.

Hejted One - April 12, 2015, 12:25 am

This is tux. I changed all my passwords, and 10 minutes later everything was changed. Working on recovering anything, but for now DO NOT DEAL WITH MY ACCOUNT OR ANY OF MY SKYPES. My HF, skype, and email are all compromised.

Ego Inc - April 16, 2015, 7:17 am you vouched yourself? this seems pretty odd.

Tux is trying to use the old scam method by saying his account is compromised.

SprayPaint - May 20, 2015, 9:05 am

This user has multiple scam reports open, I added this one to his section on this thread:
