I am here to present you Pay Per Install.

But wait? What is Pay Per Install? It is when advertiser's pays publisher's a commission for every install by a user of usually free applications bundled with ad-ware applications.

Pay Per Install is a new generation of monetizing.

The website you will find 5 categories of pages to promote the installer software (Music, Software, eBook, Movies).

Now your probably thinking lolwtf? Earning money by making people install? Show some payment proof.

And how exactly are PPI networks any better?

I have tried a PPI network, and the average per download was 0,01$.
Not to mention that with some antiviruses you can't even download their files.

If you can't make money with PPD you won't make money with PPI, unless you have a high number of clicks you can't get to convert.
