Maybe correct your grammar in your thread. Why another name in your .exe for your Skype tool?

You have written this in VB.NET?

Can you make a mass adder, I need something where it adds 1000 people daily and it would be even better if you could choose the location that they are from and if they are online. I'd suggest for the online thing make it so it only adds people that are online and then you won't get a bunch of people that don't even use their account anymore.

Sorry about that, the original name for the skype tool was going to be Based Skype, like my username. I decided to change the program name, but I forgot to change the project name. Yes, it's in VB.NET.
