So i've tested this program and i must say it's pretty nice program and affordable for only 10$, it is a must if you are into marketing or spamming emails. The program is really fastest to scrape emails also skype id's and urls. It toke 5 second to scrape 500 emails and 500 url so pretty fast.

Also the gui is nice to see , you won't have some disturbing at your eyes so don't worry.

All i can say that this is a nice program for 10$ and you should have it !

(Apr 20, 2015 01:26 PM)"Double A Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Alright so I got a vouch copy and I must say its a great tool.

You get different options, E-Mails, Links, Skypes, and Caughted (?)

There is an example website already there that actually works so you can test it out upon purchasing it and its great! You can target something specifically as well! There is also a result window where you can see the results.

Something that might get to new users, when you click start the program will freeze, and that is normal! It is supposed to freeze so do not get impatient if you put a large number!

Another thing that would be great to add is the default place it gets saved at (the results) I set a custom place to save it due to me not being able to find the default folder.

Program gets a 8/10 rating, its great and stable but somethings like the freezing can be annoying to some users, especially seeing how you can not move the window. Also since it freezes it eliminates the implementation of a stop button.

Thanks for the vouch copy and I hope your sales go well!

I haven't checked Metasploit out yet - Sorry. ?

A few of my projects I'm working on are copycats, like a Webcrawler is nothing new too. ?

I just sharpen my skills and love to create stuff. ?

Whatever catches my mind, I will work on it. ?

I haven't been checking the market lately, nor have I seen any extractors ?

I guess the main difference will be the ability to actually extract the wanted values and not some other crap thats maybe bound to it.

href attributes sometimes contain crazy shit and not all of it is useful, you gotta crop and trim at the right places to actually get what you want.

The "Caught" tab is showing what I mean, you'll see all caught href attributes there - it's all messed up. ?

Could be that there are other differences too, I'd need to know more. ?

Thanks for you feedback. <3

The default folder for the results is the folder where the programm is located in. ?

"Caughted" basicly represents every harvested href attribute without any cropping or trimming done.

Enjoy! ?
