Here's my story. One time, a guy kept giving me shit, and I got fed up with it, and I punched him in the face. True story m9.

Ayy Imao, The skypes I crashed were important to them because thats the only way they can talk to each other other then steam, They dont have enough knowledge to walk or bike to eachothers house, Ive been into several fist fights also.Trust me if I wanted enough revenge I would go beat the living out of them, or threw some nails into their driveway (all spoiled rich kids) but id rather not get a criminal record.

They are just assholes, Saying shit like "Kill yourself your overweight and have a bad job", The thing that pisses me of is the fact, their friends when day then the next stabbed in the back, Its funny though because I think they are more jealous then anything, , They are almost to skinny to fight, and to scarred to work out...

This kid was being an asshole to me so I put his car on Craigslist and he got 200 calls, 100 voicemails, and 300 texts.

Why even waste your time dealing with all of that? Just live and let live. Move on, be the bigger man and don't escalate petty word-fights. Revenge is only admirable if the receiving party has actually harmed you. Calling you mean names on instagram is hardly harming, unless you have very thin skin.

"Using me for a knife", what does that mean? Like they were trying to steal it from you?

Not sure if legit or not, But the time he did use me for the knife he also tried to take my paypal, and tried to use via team viewer to steal it also, I caught him both ways...
