

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Follows a persons likes on Facebook?

Paison - April 19, 2015, 5:03 am

Is it possible to follow a persons/friends every likes and comments they make on facebook?

Facebook have this rolling panel now to the right that shows everything your friends likes and comments. But would it be possible to see on a page what a specific friend likes?

DigitalFood - April 19, 2015, 5:22 am

Just put him in the close friends list.

N0c7urn - April 20, 2015, 2:55 am

It used to be via the GraphSearch API but facebook has since locked it down loads and robbed it of all its functionality

Paison - April 20, 2015, 4:29 am

(Apr 20, 2015 02:55 AM)N0c7urn Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) It used to be via the GraphSearch API but facebook has since locked it down loads and robbed it of all its functionality

Yea, that used to be the trick. But it seems like FB closed these functions down for real this time. But somehow the information is still saved since the new autoscrolling sidebar. Was looking for a way to save this information 24/7 and not needed to be signed in and keep a watching eye on it all the time :)