What would be a practical use for this?

Getting a crosshair in games that don't provide you one.

Aren't crasshairs like csgo's a pixel or two off center as well?

The Scarabian - April 19, 2015, 4:27 pm

If only this was for Mac. This looks pretty legit though.

That's what I figured. It looks like a pretty cool program. Maybe OP could make it move with the mouse pointer? At the very least, making that an option would be a good idea.

You can set a custom location, but i just though in some games u should join and leave a match until u find the right location.

So I will work on it , thanks for the suggestion ;D

Btw I didnt find a good and working version of a crosshair tool on the web (but i didnt check mpgh), so i guess its already the best free version you can find ;D

I would be weary while using this

VirusTotal: HERE

Also detected as Trojan.Ransom.MSIL via MBAM.

Even the scansion in the thread has detected that, im hiding nothing ;D

I just used a packer to reduce file size, nothing more.
