Thread: Is it possible to buy things online with just bank account number and routing number?

I have to wait a week or so for my debit card in the mail and I'm quite impatient wanting to buy my computer parts ASAP.

I tried looking for a proper place in the marketplace area but couldn't find one that I was allowed posting in :(

I think that's enough information to link your bank account to a paypal account... But I think you also have to verify CC.

It takes about just as long for the wire transfer.

That's what I was thinking, I guess I'm going to try that since it seems viable. I'll get back to you if it does work.

Oh shit. It asks for debit/credit after linking bank account. I am trying to buy from newegg so I think it's impossible to wire money.
