Yeah no.

Old posts' virus scan was at 3/57, I rescanned it an hour after, it was at 4/57, another hour later, 6/57 and now it's 7/57.

First of, you obviously don't know what "source" means, second, just get off here.

blackeagle1122 - April 26, 2015, 6:29 am

Looks like a basic trojan lol.

hello.. Source doesnt ONLY mean code source..it can mean where you got the idea from, maybe you should look into what you reply.. ALSO it is not a trojan, just because an antivirus shows it as a virus it doesnt mean it IS one..i think people like YOU should get off this forum if you do not know how anti-virus programs work as a whole.

It is not a trojan.. neither is it something that will harm anything/anyone.

looking at your rep it shows many people no not trust/like you on this forum.. PLEASE someone that knows what they are doing look into my release. i hate these "know it all's" on this forum. just because i am new to this forum doesnt mean i am out here to fuck up everyone's day..i have been lurking for a good few years now..its people like you that ruin it.

However you didn't add where you had the idea from either.

You just wrote what the program does and called that a source.

So I'm not entirely wrong either.
Also, the virus scan still speak for themselves.

^Correct, i have just added the link under the tut, sorry about that, i put the tut there so if people didnt want to download anything they could just do what is written there!

Virus scans are helpful! Yes! but virus scans still lists anything that edits something they dont like it will show it as a trojan/some sort of virus! i would expect people on this forum to be at a level where they dont have to scan files with virus scans, they understand how they work. anyway if you do not trust it wait for someone to try it and hopefully they will vouch and tell you that it works and it is safe!
