Thread: SecurityHub | Hacking & Programming Studying Group | Opened - 24 hours.

Th3PonyWizard - April 27, 2015, 11:02 am

recruitment closes today

SecurityHub is an extension of Elusive It is a learning group dedicated to beginners in all fields alike. We focus on Website Security And Development

Networking

Cryptography

Reverse Engineering

Low Level Exploitation

Generic Programming, Scripting

DB Management, Hardware

Member Count: 20.

Memberlist is private.

Requirements to join:

No open scam reports

6/7 hours that are free, per week

Skype account

This is the best way to learn any of the aforementioned subjects: In a group. We have projects, we write presentations, we code and we do challenges. Currently the group is public, I will weed out half of it soon.

I can't emphasize this enough. WE ACTUALLY DO STUFF. We don't sit on our asses all day and socialize.

no

again

let me repeat

WE ACTUALLY DO STUFF.

We sit, and plan, and then we set it to action. We have had 3 different group projects now.

Want in? second wave acceptance now.

PM me or reply here with the application

Hi, I am interested what is your preferred method of contact would like to get in touch with some of the people in this group.

lulzcat - April 29, 2015, 3:01 am

Just completed my first assignment with the group, Have to admit I was a bit apprehensive at first but the quality of the teachers and students is amazing. Don't hesitate to apply, Much to be learnt.

whyso - April 29, 2015, 3:25 am

PM'ed you my skype, Hope to learn more from this program. Thanks for the opportunity.

Jeyo - April 29, 2015, 3:30 am

Im a beginner but Im willing to learn and Id like to be a part of this group
Skype : jeyo.hf

Maxiim - April 29, 2015, 11:50 am

I am very interested, however I possess zero knowledge when it comes to security right now.
+ What time zone will this be most active? Because I am in GMT+1 and it can be hard for me sometimes to attend EST times, since I'm also going to uni.

TerminalLance - April 29, 2015, 12:11 pm

I would love to join! Always have been interested in something like this! Will PM skype name, or it is in my signature!

Sicarius - April 29, 2015, 1:36 pm

I was denied to Elusive, hopefully this is going to be separate. My skype is Sicarius.HF.

Giant vouch for this group, I was in it for a couple of months.

Pony has taught me almost everything I know, I wouldn't be here without him.

I would HIGHLY recommend applying for this group.

Josch - June 16, 2015, 8:16 am

Seems extremely interesting, would 100% apply if i didn't have to leave on friday for a 2-3 week examination period to get into a very fitting computer security school in the army.

Just wondering, is this group primarily EU or US based? I'm from europe so would be interesting to know at what times this group meets? Will apply if this opens up again and the timing isn't too stupid for a student.

Is this very different from 'mentoring' from another thread? Is it possible to combine them (be enrolled in both)?

Hinch - June 16, 2015, 2:42 pm

i can honestly say that he should be charging for this. He offers the best support and is the most hq member. Please dont attempt to join this group like i tried without pure passion for learning or else you will easily be left behind as knowing sonder he likes to move at a fast pace, i think this is great as it allows you to show your determination. Yet again i recommend if you truly have a passion to do this go for it but dont expect to be spoonfed or to leech on people as this is a group with an actual aim to accomplish tasks.

c x y k - June 16, 2015, 2:44 pm

I'll help out in this if you want.

I'd be very dedicated to learning the topics listed in the thread as I have just gotten into summer break and have not much to do except the usual things I already know to do. I'd love to join as I've always wanted to get into exploitation and Web Development and Security, but Id like to try the others and see if its something im interested in them as well.

crazyycast13 - June 16, 2015, 9:44 pm

So many kids say "I wanna learn how to hack". If you really do, make an app.

Aakash_Choudhary - June 16, 2015, 9:48 pm

My focus mostly on Web security and development & Networking.

Hello everyone I go by Mafia most places, though I'm thinking of changing that up. I'm pursuing a software engineering degree at a respectable 4 year university. My emphasis is on web security and network security. I do web development and monitoring for the IT department at my school and have an internship at a large corporation for the fall. I am still a beginner, but I would love to work and learn with you guys.

How dedicated I am...

Next semester I'll be joining a class which is all about network security and programming. I am willing to learn here since I will need it later on too. Learning something upfront is always nice and particularly when its a group from you.

I already was in such a group from you once(Sonder) but I left it since I didn't have much to ask or anything like that.

50 words on how dedicated am I: Because of school I have spent every summer with no other choice but to re-learn everything that I used to know because I would forget it all. At times I would find myself awake at 3 AM thinking about it or still awake at that time trying to understand it. I find myself in front of the computer researching for hours depending on how badly I want to understand it. In general I do try hard. (sorry that it's a bit over 50)
