The netcat server

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=4706305>

With it you can hack any operating system
Keylogger/cmd/shell control

You can do damn near anything..

CJamie - April 29, 2015, 3:53 am

Uhh yeah, that's for programmers and yeah, nice advertising bro.

Atom™ - April 29, 2015, 9:33 am

For me, must have apps are -

Next Screen Locker - A sweet screen locker!
Pixlr - As you said earlier, Photoshop for Android.
MX Player - Plays any and all video formats as well as got tons of features.
AirDroid - Transfer files easily over WiFi from PC.
SHAREit - Great app when transferring files to and fro between mobiles.
Instagram, WhatsApp, Twitter & BBM - Social media stuff
Soundcloud & Saavn - Music apps
UC Browser & Opera Mini - Great browsers :).
Google Keyboard - just ?

CJamie - April 29, 2015, 9:43 am

Yeah, well social media apps are a must. You don't need to specify them differently. Sound cloud is awesome but saavan? Bro use spotify, take a premium account from me and use that. And for browsers I'd say chrome is sufficient...

Phurkus - April 29, 2015, 11:39 am dam i have all your apps OP.

The-Godfather - April 29, 2015, 11:41 am

The best android mitm attack software isn't zANTI

It's Interceptor-ng

Its originally unix/linux software that has been ported over to android..

It supports Arp spoofing with packet capturing and even offers sslstrip

Not only this but it detects cookies and allows you to load a browser webview using the targets cookie session.. Not too many applications allow cookie injection.. It also supports media catching.. Meaning you can view every image/video the targets view without ever leaving the application..

Interceptor-ng

Another must have is THC-Hydra

With it you can bruteforce attack just about any protocol/server

You can find the standalone android application here

Well, one thing guys, must apps are not only 10! There are many more like stated above!!

Hidden_User - June 18, 2015, 3:44 pm

Don't forget Lucky Patcher (for simulating In-App purchases and modifying apks) and cSploit. It's like dSploit but someone keeps the project going. InterceptorNG hasn't worked for me.

All the above apps DON'T require root access. Ahh, I checked the playstore and couldn't find some of the above, so I assumed a root was required.

EDIT: nvm, they work with both a rooted and non rooted phone. Sucks that my S6 is 5.0.2 :(

No, none of the apps I told you require root access, it's just that some of the Apps are not on the playstore. But you can still download their apk.

Apps you wouldn't find on google playstore

Google " 'app name' apk download'

Try any good looking site and install the apk. Any further questions? PM me!
