Use cheap prices.

Ddos protection.

Buycraft 30 day premium

Enjin 30 day premium.

These tend to bring in good customers.

Don't fill the server with bullshit. Make it real. Make it fun and have the ability to keep players in.

Ranks. Accessibility.

Overall have fun!

Don't make it pay2win

Don't be in it for the money. If your in it to make money you'll never succeed

Imfao...

Read the thread.

He wants to host servers, not own a server.

Fucking hell, is it really that hard?

Find a good group of people to help you start, when i used to run a server with a group of about 50 solid players, i had about 5 of which i could trust to handle everything going on, grief control, and a good strong server is nice too, some players will try to mess up what can be months worth of work.

You could easily resell ovh servers if you want to go the easy way. Just don't overstock them please...
