I am probably not gonna make steam config because it needs very good proxies and is a lot of work.

Maybe teamviewer

I made up my mind about amazon and I wont be trying to make any configs for them, I also consider them fraud.

Why don't you just list all the sites you're not willing to do.

It's easier for all parties involved.

I would handle amazon anytime Bezos will not suffer to much if we flatten a few tires. Well fellas messing around in Kali Linux world I can't believe I never heard of Sentry and now can use some help expediting my learning curve. I understand how to basics that most folks post videos about just need to essentials, some good config files, combo list and fresh proxy source will not hurt. So if anyone out there pls IM me will work something out if we have to.
