Thread: White pages: chrome

debug - May 8, 2015, 2:52 pm

I just started experiencing the white page issue, I have to refresh about 5 times currently to get it to show the actual page.

Using chrome, not opera.

Any extensions you have installed recently? NoScript may cause this too.

Chrome needs alot of RAM

I had the same problem when my Pc only had 1gb of ram - so maybe you have too little RAM as well?

You're right about the RAM thingy but that's not the case here. Omniscient should fix it. He's aware of this issue, don't worry.

It isn't the case. I have 16gb of RAM and it still happened to me lol ?

When I had this issue, I just had to press Shift+F5 to clear my cache and it loaded fine.. I was using Google Chrome.

Same here, cleared everything, iPhone does the same on Safari.

Actually whenever I click "Home" I get 503 and white page, couple of refreshes and it works. Though, if I'm clicking sections it doesn't happen, only when I want to go back to index page.

Edit : Happened again, at the same time, both on mobile ISP and home connection. It's kinda annoying but I tend not to go back to index page so it doesn't pop up.

I'll make the adjustments needed as I can.
