Could you add a scraper? That would get emails off a certain site? I don't know how to phrase it but you would insert a site and it takes email out of it

Yes that would be possible if you can provide me with a list of websites where I can scrape emails from. It's not common to find websites with a list of emails.

Yes you can send as much emails as you want. Though some providers such as Gmail have a sending limit for every account (~500/per day) that cannot be bypassable.

DaChamp - May 21, 2015, 7:07 pm

Looks good but you have to get a bunch of gmail accounts to use it with which is a huge PITA. If you have another way to inbox and use other email accts let m eknow

Making email accounts are free and only takes about 30 seconds to make one. You just have to invest the time into making or looking for free email accounts.

I call it a mass mailer because you can mass email to people. We use the email carrier's SMTP. The more email accounts you add, the less problem you will have with the Google email sending limit. Also, you don't always have to use Gmail.

Those are false positives. The program has been obfuscated and protected to prevent cracking. You can put any SMTP details in the tool allowing you to use any email provider you wish.

Effective999 - June 17, 2015, 4:14 am ok, i use in sandbox anyway, great software i am just loading in some email addresses now :)

Yes this is great feature but also included would be great something that creates the gmail/hotmail accounts then logs into them via smtp to send mail automatically, even with built in rotation for example software creates 5 hotmail and 5 gmail accounts

then logs into one of them via smtp sends 200 emails then does again with different email address it created what do you think? just an idea

Thanks

I have few questions!

1. Is there option to set senders address and reply to address? (as i use cracked smtp's and most of them allow sending spoof emails)
2. can i set number of threads or does it depends on number of smtp's i have put in.
3. it would be nice if you can integrate future to check spam score.
4. is there any number limit for smtp's or email list?

(Aug 26, 2015 08:15 AM)GeoffDoesNotWearHats Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Hi, would it be possible to use proxies with this?

It is not possible. It directly sends emails through SMTP and there's no way to proxy through SMTP. You can use a VPN as a option though.

(Aug 26, 2015 08:19 AM)Yad Orez Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) How long would it usually take to email 1000 people? (roughly)

It sends about 1-2 emails per second so it will take about ~15 minutes. The time will increase if you add attachments.

You can send as many emails as you like as long you have the email accounts to do so. Some email providers, such as Gmail, have a hourly sending limit so the more accounts you add, the more emails you can send. You can add as many attachments as you want in the email.

Secret Agent - September 2, 2015, 4:02 pm

We have completely recoded our Universal Mass Mailer. It is more stable and much faster in delivering emails. You can now set how long you wait it to delay sending each email and you can set the amount of threads you want the tool to run. Here's a picture of the new features that was added:

Secret Agent - September 4, 2015, 8:20 am

The newly updated Mass Mailer is very stable! Sending emails has been much faster due to the user able to configure how many threads to run.

Secret Agent - September 6, 2015, 10:48 am

We recommend setting the # of threads from 2-4 for the most stable and fastest delivery speed. The more threads you use, the more CPU that the mailer will use.

The "Test Email" button will try to send an email and if it can't send an email it means there is a problem with your email account.

Also one more problem..

I've tried with like 5 emails and none of them were able to send

Make sure they're your own email accounts because there may be some conflicts regarding account ownership and verifications when you use an email account that is not yours.

0x0111 - September 19, 2015, 9:13 pm

All 5 were my own personal gmail emails.

Also tried my yahoo one

Oh lol I get this email from gmail.

Hi

Someone just tried to sign in to your Google Account from an app that doesn't meet modern security standards.

Details:

We strongly recommend that you use a secure app, like Gmail, to access your account. All apps made by Google meet these security standards. Using a less secure app, on the other hand, could leave your account vulnerable. Learn more.

Yes that would be possible if you can provide me with a list of websites where I can scrape emails from. It's not common to find websites with a list of emails.

How about your target websites that sells email leads? I think that way, you can scrape legitimate emails from their database.

First of all, I want to ask...

1. Does it support SMTP protocol?
2. What server host sends the email?
3. How does it exactly work? Can I spam up to 100,000 emails daily? Does the file attachment function work? If so I will be highly interested.

Can I have a vouch copy just to confirm it, before I make purchase?

1. It uses SMTP protocols.
2. Uses the email provider you provide.
3. You can send as many emails as you like, depending on your email provider. I know Gmail has a sending limit per hour which we cannot control. The file attachment function works just fine.

We are not offering any more vouch copies. We know this product is 100% working.

This is a SMTP based software O_o

Also, you don't need to manually add each email account individually. You can import them from a .txt file.

As long as you know the email provider's outgoing SMTP details (which is easily searchable using google), you can use it. I do not have Skype so the only way you can contact me is through HF.

Any problems that occurs originates from your email accounts. Most likely, the email account is disallowing the mass mailer to send any emails. You have to disable any security settings on your email account.

I'm interested. Few questions:

- 1) Is this a program that we download and run from our computer? If so, what server is being utilized to send the emails?
- 2) Can we use a VPN? How would I avoid having it traced back to me?
- 3) How many emails maximum do you recommend sending out per day?

  1. Yes it's a program that you download. It uses SMTP to send emails so if you add a Gmail email account, it sends through your Gmail account.
  2. You can if you want.

3. Depends on the email provider. For example, I know that Gmail has like a 500 email sending limit.

The emails being sent out as Spam is due to your STMP lists, not due to the program or the machine that's using the Universal Mass Mailer tool.
