

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Facebook Redesign

prada ? - May 12, 2015, 6:00 pm

One of many pages I'll be creating, sharing this one and I'll update with the rest of the project. Let me know what you think, feedback is wanted.

image \(Click to View\)[align=center]

WOLGA - May 12, 2015, 6:02 pm

It's not bad, the quality, but I hate this type of themes.

cortz - May 12, 2015, 7:37 pm

You pretty much just copied the layout of the existing site. I wouldn't call it as much of a redesign than a reskin.

With it, you also introduced a number of obvious ux issues.

You should also hold off on making a mock up until you're done

prada ? - May 12, 2015, 7:48 pm

(May 12, 2015 07:37 PM)cortz. Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) You pretty much just copied the layout of the existing site. I wouldn't call it as much of a redesign than a reskin.

With it, you also introduced a number of obvious ux issues.

You should also hold off on making a mock up until you're done

Can you point out some of the big issues you see?

Scarlett Johansson - May 12, 2015, 11:34 pm

I'd go with a large Facebook logo, smaller side icons, smaller text for the languages, and put the languages under the other links, make the other links centered and perhaps separate them with hyphens?

" Sign Up - Log In - Messenger -

-----> (centered) Create Ad - Create Page -

Keep at it mate looks pretty good so far.

PirateSec - May 12, 2015, 11:50 pm

The facebook logo seems alittle alone. Other than that Simply an amazing work. Keep up the good work!

cortz - May 13, 2015, 12:03 am

(May 12, 2015 07:48 PM)Prada Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Can you point out some of the big issues you see?

- In the sign-up area, it make's no sense to have a repeat email box when there's no repeat password box.

- No signs of account recovery options

- Zero hierarchy in the layout/design, everything is the same size.

- Login area up top makes absolutely no sense.
- Picture of the golden gate bridge in the bg serves no purpose, also doesn't help sell the idea of 'Meet people around the world'. If you want to keep it simply due for aesthetic reasons, at least try to justify it.
- Date of birth entry shows no format of how it should be entered.
- Male/Female options look awkward as all hell.
- etc...

Other than that, there are also a number of design inconsistencies. I hope you'll be able to spend some time to figure them out and refine them yourself rather than having me spoon feed everything. As a tip, simply go through everything a few times and double check all the minor details to make sure things like wording, alignment, style..etc.. are the same throughout the whole design.

Sunkist S0D4 - May 13, 2015, 10:22 am

I agree with every with everyone's comments.

Heres something new: I feel like the footers font size is a little too large, the footer kinda blends in with the body. Perhaps make them a little more distinguishable?

Grin - May 13, 2015, 10:24 am

(May 13, 2015 12:03 AM)cortz. Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) - In the sign-up area, it make's no sense to have a repeat email box when there's no repeat password box.

- No signs of account recovery options
- Zero hierarchy in the layout/design, everything is the same size.
- Login area up top makes absolutely no sense.
- Picture of the golden gate bridge in the bg serves no purpose, also doesn't help sell the idea of 'Meet people around the world'. If you want to keep it simply due for aesthetic reasons, at least try to justify it.
- Date of birth entry shows no format of how it should be entered.
- Male/Female options look awkward as all hell.
- etc...

Other than that, there are also a number of design inconsistencies. I hope you'll be able to spend some time to figure them out and refine them yourself rather than having me spoon feed everything. As a tip, simply go through everything a few times and double check all the minor details to make sure things like wording, alignment, style..etc.. are the same throughout the whole design.

I think the male/female option is fine.

prada ? - May 13, 2015, 11:16 am

(May 13, 2015 12:03 AM)cortz. Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) - In the sign-up area, it make's no sense to have a repeat email box when there's no repeat password box.

- No signs of account recovery options
- Zero hierarchy in the layout/design, everything is the same size.
- Login area up top makes absolutely no sense.
- Picture of the golden gate bridge in the bg serves no purpose, also doesn't help sell the idea of 'Meet people around the world'. If you want to keep it simply due for aesthetic reasons, at least try to justify it.
- Date of birth entry shows no format of how it should be entered.
- Male/Female options look awkward as all hell.
- etc...

Other than that, there are also a number of design inconsistencies. I hope you'll be able to spend some time to figure them out and refine them yourself rather than having me spoon feed everything.

As a tip, simply go through everything a few times and double check all the minor details to make sure things like wording, alignment, style..etc.. are the same throughout the whole design.

Thank you I appreciate this. And I wasn't asking you to spoon feed me, I just rather have someone with experience tell me the biggest issues. Sorry if you felt that way.

Thanks again everyone for your feedback

Grin - May 13, 2015, 11:59 am

(May 13, 2015 11:16 AM)Prada Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Thank you I appreciate this. And I wasn't asking you to spoon feed me, I just rather have someone with experience tell me the biggest issues. Sorry if you felt that way.

Thanks again everyone for your feedback

Design is subjective. What he has to say might not necessarily be the most accurate representation of your work. Don't take it too seriously.

Savage Matt - May 13, 2015, 12:12 pm

Looks great so far man, Very clean and takes info for better marketing. Good job!

prada ? - May 13, 2015, 12:16 pm

(May 13, 2015 11:59 AM)Grin Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Design is subjective. What he has to say might not necessarily be the most accurate representation of your work. Don't take it too seriously.

I've seen his work and I know he knows what he's talking about. I'm not at the least bit offended, I'm still trying to learn.

LeetBrute - May 13, 2015, 12:37 pm

Plain, no flaws. amazing <3

Isaac Newton - May 13, 2015, 12:59 pm

Design is subjective, but then there are also basics.

With time spent in designing, eyes start to immediately recognize good, bad, avg. stuff.

I suggest continuous practice. Good luck.

cortz - May 13, 2015, 1:00 pm

What I listed isn't really subjective, they're pretty objective issues concerning UX.

Also, I may have been to harsh with all that about spoon feeding. I initially had a pretty huge list going on but I felt like that may overwhelm you a bit so I removed the ones specifically about consistency issues and some minor ones so you can develop a bit on your own.

If you're at your wits end I'll still let you know.

Chief Sosa - May 14, 2015, 7:08 am

Looks good but i would use the old one as i am used to it ;d

TheyHateUsCuzTheyAintUs - May 14, 2015, 7:19 am

I don't like the position of the username and password fields, I am not sure why though.

GenuineGFX - May 14, 2015, 10:53 pm

Looks Ok Only Because It Reminds Me Of An Apple Application Which I Think That If Its For A Site On Global Devices It Shouldnt just Contrast Apple But,

In All Fairness This Is Great I Really Like Every Last Element(Especially The Registration Bar!) .

Keep It Up! 9/10

* ?? - May 15, 2015, 8:21 am

I agree with cortz and I will also add one thing that is major to me.

A site like Facebook, that is used worldwide by all types of people young and old, needs to be easy to navigate and make total sense.

All of the elements in your design have the same style, plain white.

You need to add more size variation (what cortz said about there not being a hierarchy).

And you also need to fuck with some opacity and make some of your sections differentiate from the others.

All white aint bad but make certain less important things slightly transparent so my eyes know where to look.

badboy3 - May 17, 2015, 4:42 pm

Nice work man, good to see you brain storming but facebook will die soon. Trust me

Raz3d - May 17, 2015, 4:45 pm

Nothing really seems eye-catching and the logo is way too small. Something need to take over and lead the viewer and invite the person inside.

cultis - May 18, 2015, 4:14 pm

I never use fb themes bc ew but

This looks great.