Thread: Digital Entrepreneur/Webmaster that thrives on success

NETWORKDV8 - May 18, 2015, 11:33 am

Let me introduce myself...

I'm Dan, I am 18 years old and live in England. I want to create an online network that owns a number of successful projects whether it be a unique forum, drop shipping unusual products or even a website that makes money from affiliate marketing.

Whatever the idea is, I want in...

I am willing to dedicate my knowledge and manage the project, together forming a partnership which will hopefully be - a very successful one.

What can I provide? Maturity and Motivation

Years of industry experience in Front-End Website Development, Customer Care and Project Management

Time to communicate and work with diverse people

If you are interested and want to know more, please post your Skype username below and I will add you.

Thank you,

- Dan @ NETWORKDV*8.

Alright, good for you. What is the point of this topic?

Hi there.

I would be interested to see what you are capable of before forming any sort of working relationship.

Shout me on skype: glennpbp so I can see what you mean in terms of "Maturity" and how good your development skills are. Do you know Javascript? Are you familiar with various javascript frameworks? Have you used Less before? What about HTML5 markup?

Just a few things to think about.

Cheers.

See if anyone would be interested in working with him.

Seemed pretty obvious.

Partnership belongs in the marketplace section, not here.
