Thread: how far in value do you think OMC can go?

I know OMC when it came out it was worth a lot cuz of the hype, then it crashed and now the price is where it is. Let's say within a year, do you think OMC value will increase? If so, to what value is your guess? Or you think it will go down even more?

what i think. I think it will go up. not sure to what the value tho.

The price is already going up and has been going up for quite a while at a reasonably steady rate. I think it will just keep on rising as we release new projects and innovations - I know of some big things that should be coming soon

Please feel free to share what is upcoming?

My prediction is that it'll be stable about 2000+ satoshi/coin in the next year. There's still a lot planned for the coin.

Once Omniscient starts moving and implementing more and more coin features I can see this being big - for now though it is steadily and slowly rising.
