Thread: Dank Thread Design

Honest opinions needed on this dank thread design I made.
Made using Photoshop, font is Roboto.

The stock in the footer makes no sense at all

Remove it and look at the rest of the design then.

You have Your "Thread Design by..." Statement twice on the piece. Personally, I'd have it on the bottom as it is the last thing a person will read; they will remember your designs easier.

Other than that, maybe lighten the polygonal art behind the "Packages" section, the bottom tends to blend too easily with the "Buy Now" on the bottom right.

You only have "Buy Now" on the bottom 3 packages as well, that might be intentional though?

Other than that, its a pretty slick design!

Good design except the design by portion repeating twice.

hmm its good , but its mixed up flat colors with effects and images background , though it looks good with it

Change the stock at the bottom to grayscale and it will look a lot better. Also the title looks odd compared to the rest of the design.

Looks fairly nice! Would use if I had a service coming up :)

Wouldn't call it 'Dank' but it is something.

I was going to put "dope" but then people would think it's a thread design for weed.

Meh, pretty much the same word to me.

It's okay. Very simple and easy to create.

I wouldn't say it's dank but it's nice.

I must say it is very dank, don't listen to anyone else.

In all seriousness though, I really like it.

Buy now is only on the bottom 3 packages because the packages are going vertical, as in the Left column all packages under it are 1 month, in the middle column all packages under it last 3 months, and on the right column all packages under it last for a lifetime.

Nice threads , but i dont really like the color 8/10

Gary - May 23, 2015, 3:09 pm

This should be at the bottom left. Otherwise its annoying to read.
