I want to create a chat bot for multiple chat room websites using python. My question is where do I start to accomplish this task??? Any specific frameworks I should be using??

I've been looking into natural language processing(Nltk) am I on the right path?

Are you more concerned with the actual connections and responding, or the quality of the responses?

I've never tried something like this before. If you haven't already seen this, it looks like this thread is right on the money. I think i'll try to do this as well, seems like a fun project :D
