So I will make the application process very easy for you.

INFORMATION

PRODUCT REVIEWERS is a group filled with talented and trusted writers, these will make our lives easier here on HF, you will never again doubt about what you're purchasing here on HF. Our team will offer any product on HF for a free review that we will host on a thread that we will create here on HF available for all users also we will post it on your thread.

PURPOSE

I want to create a team which will do this kind of job to make the marketplace and ebook bazaar cleaner and better. I will only accept loyal and trusted members, also talented writers. When we have given you a review we will decide if we will give you "our" badge of approval or not, when you get this other users can be very safe when they purchase your product.

HOW TO JOIN

As of now I'm only looking for a few people, I will only accept trustworthy members. After I've decided a few members I will create a poll, the top 3 members who gets the most votes will join the team, this way the community has a chance to be part of the deciding.

APPLICATION FORM

You will have to choose any product of your choice, make a review on it, include details as specifications, colors, type, experience, et cetera, how you usually write down a review.

WHAT DO I WIN JOINING THIS GROUP?

If you love writing, you get to do something you love. Also you will get the chance to test various products on HF.

Have a great day, I hope to see some members apply. I hope the community is for this idea, I can't see why this isn't useful. So if you have something against this tell me. ?

I'll apply. I'm a pretty good writer, I'll get cracking on the review tomorrow. I basically have Ebola so I can't write anything longer than a paragr-

A group based on a REAL and HONEST opinion of what the product is its faults and its support for them

I feel like the majority of the e-book stuff are not very unique and "unsaturated". If you give an honest review if it sucks, the person will just flame you, neg you and complain.

The person won't claim a review if he himself knows that his ebook has no actual functionality. ?

So it's more of a popularity contest than anything?

I think some people believe that their e-book is really good just because the amount they write, when it has no actual good information. I like the concept, and I would probably apply, but I don't feel like it would do myself any favours since people would just get angry at me if I give my honest opinion.

If an authors eBook is shit they dont have to give it to the review team, if the review is well written and polite with its critique then it only gives the author room to improve. I agree that most eBooks are oversaturated shit, which is why this team needs to happen.

Doesn't like people are interested in contributing to clean the marketplace. This recruitment is closed.
