Thread: Host a Minecraft server? Free Featured Listing on my Minecraft Server List Site

Freshest - May 30, 2015, 9:13 am

Hey fellow Hackforumers, Me and a friend have been working on a Website to List Minecraft Servers by rank and popularity that allows users to submit their own servers to generate a little publicity for themselves, for free. I was figuring I could offer you guys here on HF a free featured server listing (which is displayed on the homepage and top of server lists) since it doesn't cost me anything anyways.

Traffic-wise, at the moment it's extremely low, though there are a few specific search terms on Google that I'm targeting which should be easy for me to get. They are semi-widely searched and I'm confident I'll be able to grab a spot somewhere in the top three results in the within a couple weeks. Within a couple days you should start seeing a nice increase in click-overs, especially being a featured server.

If anyone here on Hackforums would like to add their server, we just released the site (we are still making appearance and functionality upgrades/changes) but everything works as intended. (Although a little sloppy.)

and send me a PM afterwards with a link or the name of the server you submitted.

Using a fake or throw-away email to list a server is fine with me, I'll be occasionally refreshing the admin panel to approve your guys emails if you can't be bothered to click the activation link (or used a fake email) to submit.

Hope this helps some of you make a little extra money with your server, thanks for reading
