

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Discussing improvements for hacking sections

Th3PonyWizard - June 3, 2015, 12:33 pm

1) Why is "ewhoring" inside Beginner Hacking? I don't get it. ewhoring is pretending you're a slut, how the hell do you hack while you do it? You don't. A more sane approach would moving it to "Money" section or whatever as you make money out of this strictly.

2) "Worms, Malware, and Viruses" Sub-section should not be under "Beginner Hacking". There is nothing "Beginner" under malware development. It should be placed under "Advanced Hacking".

3) Better idea than 2#. Merge "Botnets, IRC Bots, and Zombies" and "Worms, Malware, and Viruses" together.

Botnet = Virus.

IRC Bots = Botnets.

Zombies = Botnets = Virus.

Malware = Virus.

Worms = Malware = Virus.

They're all connected too much to justify their own sections, even more when suddenly one is placed under beginner hacking and one is under advanced hacking while "Advanced" and "Beginner" are relative terms that differ completely. Both subjects can be advanced and beginner-friendly, it depends what material is presented out of the subject.

4)The "Hacking Tools and Programs" section.

You can move so much shit to it! Move "Worms, Malware, and Viruses" to it, and it would make so much more sense instead of having it under Beginner hacking.

5) "Hacking Tutorials" is a mess of a section. (most threads are from 2010/2011. It's hacking. An evolving field. Most recent thread is from, like, what, 2013?)

5.1) "Premium Hacking Tutorials" makes absolutely no fucking sense what-so-ever. First of all, there are hundreds of amazing tutorials on the forum:

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=3120614>

Why only a page and a half are filling up that section?

Second - The choices are bad. "All tuts in this section are moved here by staff or moderators" Sorry but there isn't a single active staff / moderator on HF that actually knows a thing or two about hacking.

exceptions: Skorp / VipVence / Paradoxum

but you can't leave this job to 3 people. The community should be responsible for the tutorials it finds to be good. Although I'd personally get rid of this section completely. Every contribution is good contribution and there's no need to place some above others especially when some of them are actually bad.

examples for bad stuff

[? \[TUTORIAL\] Spy-Net v2.6 FULL Setup \[RAT\] \[UPDATED\] ?](#) OP Closed, NO-IP is in the thread which is not a relevant RAT DNS.

[\[Tutorial\] Setting Up DarkComet v5 \[Detailed\] \[Crypt Friendly\] \[Pictures\]](#)

_ NO-IP too

[Project Neptune \(BEST KeyLogger\) - COMPLETE Setup Tutorial \[NEW\]\[TUT\] -](#)

_ - dead pictures

[\[TUT\]DDoS Attack - A life lesson](#) - Demonstrates ANCIENT Attacks such as Ping Flood and GET flood. And silly UDP flood with LOIC.

[Cracking Hashes - How-to's and What-Nots \[Pics|Vids|Downloads\]](#)

- Mentions collisions: Why? There's no useful plain-text collisions that are usable.

[???\[Mega-Project\] How to be a Hacker | The Ultimate Guide \[Mega-Project\]???](#) - Shouldn't even be in the section, it's a free ebook giveaway.

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=2008347>
<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=3120614>
<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=504268> (Awful)

These aren't tutorials, these are tutorial compilations. Why there?

and then there's a stickied one here: <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=3525922>

why is it stickied and the others aren't? it doesn't include a fraction of the tutorials that are on HF.

5.2) What's the sense at making a section that only includes tutorials, while still having tutorials at the normal, content-oriented sections? You're splitting the areas of which tutorials go to. Do all tutorials need to be in the tutorial section? so simply move everything there? but then people from different backgrounds and skill-sets will comment and some might see stuff they don't care about as the forum is "generic hacking" and not oriented to anything specific. I believe this whole section is pointless in the first place.

6) VPN proxies and socks another semi-useless section, only used to post proxy scrapes. can shove it under WEP hacking, rename section to networking security and put anonymity as sub-forum there. Might work.

7) Requests for hacking sub-forum already suggested it - have an auto-junk, auto-deletion of threads there. I'm pretty fucking sure people aren't going to hack stuff for other people that was posted 3 years ago. On a request forum that is first-come-first-serve popularity based, only the relevant stuff will show up as the forum is displaying threads on a relevance based order. why keep dated stuff?

Anyway this is a discussion thread, not me suggesting ideas. I feel that some stuff is broken in the hacking tab and I want people to share thoughts about it.

UnParad0x - June 3, 2015, 12:36 pm

You sound like a man who has had enough, congrats on the one man revolution. Made a few good points crazyycast13 - June 3, 2015, 12:37 pm

I completely agree with you, it's why I just fought for the crypto section to be fixed, and it actually was. I'll still have to report 10 threads a day and pm staff but at least there is now a section where we won't get flooded.

5chn4pp - June 3, 2015, 12:38 pm

Vouch, admins why don't you just already make him a admin?

-Elusive- - June 3, 2015, 12:43 pm

Yes it's glaringly obvious that the hacking tab has been neglected greatly. Pretty ridiculous for a forum called "HackForums"

These issues should probably be fixed or else maybe consider a name change.

condux - June 3, 2015, 12:45 pm

(Jun 3, 2015 12:43 PM)-Elusive- Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Yes it's glaringly obvious that the hacking tab has been neglected greatly. Pretty ridiculous for a forum called "HackForums"

These issues should probably be fixed or else maybe consider a name change.

They should really change the name, 'Hack' is too misleading and you just get people coming here asking ridiculous questions. It's not 'hacking' it's people using RAT's and booters. It is basically a general forum and should be named accordingly.

Quality_k1nG - June 3, 2015, 1:00 pm

I agree with Pony. Its not a proper way of managing the things .

REKTED BY LOLI GODS - June 3, 2015, 1:01 pm

You should make a suggestion about this for changes.

REKTED BY LOLI GODS - June 3, 2015, 1:07 pm

(Jun 3, 2015 01:02 PM)crazyycast13 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) There are a lot of different improvements that may need to be brought up that we don't know of, so what the point of the thread is to bring to light the things that should be fixed. Suggest as you go sort of thread.Hey doesn't hurt to try and who knows? It might be fixed if they accept it.

Hash G. - June 3, 2015, 1:07 pm

(Jun 3, 2015 12:38 PM)One Virus(° ? °) Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Vouch, admins why don't you just already make him a admin?

Tbh I think he should moderate the hacking section.

Great suggestions.

grady - June 3, 2015, 1:09 pm

The only reason I'd be against Pony not moderating the Hacking sections is that he vac-bans himself consistently.

Great suggestions though.

Huskar - June 3, 2015, 1:53 pm

I really love how you want to improve the forum's core subjects (or at least were)

I really hope all those things get "fixed" somehow

Ichi - June 3, 2015, 2:44 pm

I agree with every point that Pony has made..The entire hacking section has clearly been abandoned by administration (for whatever reason). If there's not enough manpower to ensure that all parts of this forum stay HQ then maybe they should appoint more mods or mentors or whatever. It's not like Omni pays his staff so it's no sweat off his nuts

It's pretty sad. I don't blame Pony for taking 6 month vacation bans. There's only a few interesting people in the entire hacking section and that's the only reason most people keep coming back to it.

Temp_1582895 - June 3, 2015, 3:02 pm

(Jun 3, 2015 02:44 PM)Ich*i* Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I agree with every point that Pony has made..The entire hacking section has clearly been abandoned by administration (for whatever reason). If there's not enough manpower to ensure that all parts of this forum stay HQ then maybe they should appoint more mods or mentors or whatever. It's not like Omni pays his staff so it's no sweat off his nuts

It's pretty sad. I don't blame Pony for taking 6 month vacation bans. There's only a few interesting people in the entire hacking section and that's the only reason most people keep coming back to it. Actually, staff and admins are payed since like 3 years now.

F8 mentioned it numerously here: <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=4646271>

xSonoro - June 3, 2015, 3:06 pm

Completely agree on everything except point 4.

Hacking tools turned into some kind of marketing section so no point to merge it with the section you mentioned.

Joshz - June 3, 2015, 3:08 pm

I suggested #1 (ewhoringsection) last year I forget why it was declined though. I'm gonna try and find the reason.

Th3PonyWizard - June 3, 2015, 3:09 pm

(Jun 3, 2015 03:06 PM)xSonoro Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Completely agree on everything except point 4.

Hacking tools turned into some kind of marketing section so no point to merge it with the section you mentioned. Not merge. Move under. As in, have hacking tools to be the mother-section and have sub-sections at it.

Aura - June 3, 2015, 3:33 pm

Once again, I support Pony's suggestions. If there's one person who spent way too much time in the Hacking areas and can see the cancer spreading there (it was there when I was still in it, and way before that), it's him.

Canonsx130 - June 3, 2015, 9:11 pm

Couldn't agree with you more. The degrading sub-forums under the Hacking tab certainly needs a revamp. I agree to all the suggestions. Maybe this will help regain some more activity in the section. And it's good to see you back Th3PonyWizard. Doesn't have to be done all of a sudden. I'd still be happy if this happens after the move on to new servers.

$lick - June 5, 2015, 7:40 am

Can't wait to hear Omni's comments on this, seems like a few good suggestions.

Prince™ - June 5, 2015, 7:52 am

Sounds reasonable. Let's wait and see what Omni has to say about this.

HIGH PAID FELLA - June 5, 2015, 11:03 am

I agree 100% with Pony, these subforuls are pure cancer.

Meow - June 5, 2015, 11:10 am

Coudn't agree more, hopefully Omni will implement some changes.

Roger Waters - June 6, 2015, 2:44 pm

I couldn't agree with #1 enough, there are many, many things wrong with it and arguably could be contradicting some site policies.

YekiM - June 6, 2015, 4:44 pm

For point #2, you can just place the different types of malware into subsections rather than saying worms and viruses are different categories.

Malware =Viruses

Trojans

Bots

Adware

spyware

Ransomware

Worms

scareware

rootkit

bugs

Th3PonyWizard - June 6, 2015, 5:03 pm

(Jun 6, 2015 02:44 PM)Roger Waters Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I couldn't agree with #1 enough, there are many, many things wrong with it and arguably could be contradicting some site policies. So where should it be put?

(Jun 6, 2015 04:44 PM)YekiM Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) For point #2, you can just place the different types of malware into subsections rather than saying worms and viruses are different categories.

Malware =Viruses

Trojans

Bots

Adware

spyware

Ransomware

Worms

scareware

rootkit

bugs

9 subforums is way too much also not saying worms and viruses are different things, let merge them

YekiM - June 6, 2015, 5:14 pm

(Jun 6, 2015 05:03 PM)Th3PonyWizard Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) So where should it be put?

9 subforums is way too much also not saying worms and viruses are different things, let merge them

Oh I wasn't implying that you thought they were, just from the location in the hack subforums it makes it seem they are. Instead of the subsections, what about just calling it malware? and the description will outline what kind of talks:

"All discussions about worms, torjans, viruses, bots, etc should be posted here"

Decafe - June 6, 2015, 7:31 pm

I completely agree with all of this, the entire hacking tab is completely neglected.

Learner Boy - June 6, 2015, 10:42 pm

I completely agree with you Pony. Let's see what Omni does

Roger Waters - June 6, 2015, 10:51 pm

(Jun 6, 2015 05:03 PM)Th3PonyWizard Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) So where should it be put?

It should be removed all together, e-Whoring is against several of the disallowed blackhat activity violations that are in place right now, including

Fraud - You're claiming that you were the one on camera when in fact you were not really the one in the photos.

Identity Fraud - You're using claiming to be someone else, using their identity to make a financial gain.

Financial Fraud - Having someone send you PayPal, Amazon Gift Cards, etc to make a false claim that you'll do something for them and essentially scam them.

Th3PonyWizard - June 7, 2015, 1:28 am

(Jun 6, 2015 10:51 PM)Roger Waters Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) It should be removed all together, e-Whoring is against several of the disallowed blackhat activity violations that are in place right now, including

Fraud - You're claiming that you were the one on camera when in fact you were not really the one in the photos.

Identity Fraud - You're using claiming to be someone else, using their identity to make a financial gain.

Financial Fraud - Having someone send you PayPal, Amazon Gift Cards, etc to make a false claim that you'll do something for them and essentially scam them.I completely agree. This section reeks of awful things. Imagine being a chick, registering to this forum to find out people are faking out to be you.

T???? - June 7, 2015, 9:17 am

Agree with Sonder. I like this forum but i joined to better my skills. I did learn sql injection well and other information i didnt knew about.

But it really seems like the "Hacking" section is dieing mods dont care etc.

I also dislike the e-whore section and e-whoring in general

Btw: there are so many members that call other skids etc. but why dont make a thread to show u are that skilled. Users should get tips and tutorials instead of hätte imo

Joshz - June 7, 2015, 10:26 am

(Jun 7, 2015 01:28 AM)Th3PonyWizard Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I completely agree. This section reeks of awful things. Imagine being a chick, registering to this forum to find out people are faking out to be you. I know a girl on this forum who does ewhore lol. Me personally I find it completely disgusting. There's a kid at my school who does it and thinks he's godly.

YekiM - June 7, 2015, 4:00 pm

(Jun 7, 2015 10:26 AM)Joshz Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I know a girl on this forum who does ewhore lol. Me personally I find it completely disgusting. There's a kid at my school who does it and thinks he's godly.

I guess it's all down to the accessibility and feasibility of this type of behaviour. You don't need to be a computer expert to e-whore, but you require hella knowledge for advanced hacking.

Th3PonyWizard - June 19, 2015, 5:20 am

This has not received any official reply.

Omniscient - June 19, 2015, 3:38 pm

- 1) no
- 2) no
- 3) no
- 4) no
- 5) reviewing
- 5.1) yes, will be removed eventually
- 6) no
- 7) no

Many parts of HF have conflicting sections. It's just how it has grown and developed. Undoing some of it wouldn't actually improve things as much as you would think and it would break some of the SEO work I've done.

And I've carefully read your first post, spent the time to review things carefully before I replied too. So don't think it wasn't considered with care.

Thanks for your suggestions all the same.