Ban Adf.ly, Linkbux, CPALead, $harecash, Envirofile...

Generally, everything that is PPD or PPV.

All the big forums have this. Less spam, and brings more HQP to the forum :)

Quiet. - June 16, 2010, 11:31 am

I like the idea, but you are obviously going to get flamed for having this out there. I'm really sick of shitcash and having to be redirected to webpages. Just give me a fucking direct link. Damn.

Grand Pootis - June 16, 2010, 11:32 am

I am sure that you two have never actually made anything good. Then you would see the value of those websites.

Quiet. - June 16, 2010, 11:45 am

The point is that it pisses everyone who is trying to download off, regardless of the benefits it brings to the uploaders. You should be making programs and uploading them to solely help the community, not to earn a quick buck off of shitcash, anyway.

Moot - June 16, 2010, 11:47 am

Well if the member is giving away some free programs, keys, or things of that nature.. It's only fair for them to post shitcash, adf.ly, and things of that nature.

Either you do a survey that takes 5minutes and get free stuff. Or you can just straight up pay for it. I find it fair.

Sky- - June 16, 2010, 11:47 am

I would have to disagree. I don't particularly like any of those things, but I don't see a need for them to be banned altogether.

Lmfao... You call $.40 cents a download a "Good"? Smd.

i agree with mute, people need and deserve the money.

Kaleb - June 16, 2010, 11:57 am

Its their shit, i think its fair enough for you to take a little bit of time to fill out a survey, and give them 40 cents.

kutmustakurt - June 16, 2010, 11:58 am

Actually banning is not the way to go, posting them in the right section(Referrals).?

So instead of just literally banning it from the whole forum, why not just ban it from certain sections. Also along with the fact that a section of this forum is for referrals, ect.

I have made over $300 with $harecash and about ~ $2k with CPALead. I'm sorry, can you give me some tips how to make more then? -."

Or they could just do whatever everyone did before $harecash was invented: share with the community for free.

Frank Underwood - June 16, 2010, 1:04 pm

I like the Idea Bryan. Well like the other people said, not banning the people who post them, but just close their thread or only allowed to post at the referral section :).

If you are talking about HQP then you should have posted this in the other topic. As for all my arguments they will still be made in that thread unless this one becomes more popular.

But remember, just because you happen to dislike it doesnt mean the new monetizers dont like it.

I personally made my first few Dollars from Adf.ly and I was able to buy web hosting and now slowly slowly I am getting money more easily. So dont do this to crush people first few steps to gaining money from the internet.

People are not here to click other's links. Don't forget, on $harecash and adf.ly eBooks, there is always a way that includes forums. Why be in that list, and get spammed by 1 posters?

The Monetizing Techniques section is growing day-by-day with new tutorials. If you weren't that lazy you would see that making 2 cents/day isn't the best way to become a millionaire on the internet.

Androctonus - June 16, 2010, 1:12 pm

Well, there's a referral section for that. And it stays pretty well organized, in my opinion.

Memetics - June 16, 2010, 1:16 pm

I could see a subsection for things of this nature, but not a ban.

If someone is giving something away for free, they deserve something in exchange, and they aren't making you pay for it. After all, 90% of the people downloading it are leeching it.

Loka~ - June 16, 2010, 1:18 pm

I agree share-cash and such are annoying, I can't even DL from them because my country don't have any surveys to fill out, however banning is not the way to go, just post in the refferal section.

I love it how a large part of your argument is solely the fact that people are on HackForums to click links..

No. that isnt the reason. If you Dont want to click the links you DONT have to. Its not a hard concept to understand. You wont be forced to be clicking to links if you dont want to. So dont f you have a problem with it.

And on a less flamey side of things:

I was simply telling you my initial way of starting off.

for those people who cant understand the monetizing section and want the most simplistic way to get money then adf.ly is perfect for them

setting up CPAlead is much more difficult and costs an initial sum of investment money unless you do everything free hosted and domain but nonetheless, it is easier with initial money.

Also, As for the monetizing section becoming more and more advanced.. Take a look at it my friend, Most of the Tutorials are CPAlead Based. Almost all the E-Books are CPAlead based.

It would ruin the monetizing section without CPAlead..

And dont call me lazy when I spend most of my time in the monetizing section.

You misunderstood me. I did not say to ban all CPAlead and Adf.ly discussions, but to ban CPAlead downloads and adf.ly links. People can find other places to advertise except hackforums.

Since I made that thread I am obviously for this...

BUT PEOPLE: SHITCASH IS ALREADY BANNED. IF YOU POST IT YOU'RE ALREADY BREAKING THE RULES. THERE'S A REASON THE WORLD IS BLOCKED.

And now CPALead is worse :/

evilalex - June 16, 2010, 2:32 pm

But like nobody has cpalead they have to have a legit site to register..

That made me laugh since HF is one of the fastest growing forums online. They should follow us not the other way around.

Momiji - June 16, 2010, 2:59 pm

I could have sworn Omni said that shitcash wasn't banned, just filtered.

I'm probably wrong though? Can anyone confirm with proof?

Omniscient - June 16, 2010, 3:10 pm

It's filtered but we don't have direct rules against it. Just want to minimize the amount of links here that would be annoying.
