Thread: Why don't crypter owners advertise Bitdefender bypass

bluestone - June 5, 2015, 9:59 pm

I'm wondering why crypter owners generally don't advertise Bitdefender bypass? In my opinion Bitdefender is the best antivirus of 2015 (for runtime). Do crypter owners not post Bitdefender bypass videos because it's not a very popular AV or because it's too hard to bypass?

Personally, if I see a Bitdefender runtime bypass I believe it's a good product.

Keep in mind this is a question and I am in no way an expert when it comes to crypters.

Mainly because it isn't very common.

You can ask them, most people don't find it necessary.

Gonna create a vid soon showing my Crypter bypassing Bitdefender.

Kasperskyes proactive heuristic (run time) is actually better than bitdefender.
