You can try tineye.com, it's a website that searches millions of images on the web for your image. You could get a Facebook link which could help you. Chances are low but still better than nothing.

Reverse Image search with google. I'm nearly 100% sure that works for accounts over 18 and maybe under.

Yeah, search by image on Google normally does the trick.

Also, it can lead to a twitter, Instagram or anything else so that means that you can use that name she uses on twitter, for example, and take it to Facebook to find her profile. The internet is heaven for stalkers...don't ask how I know how to do these things... ;)
