There is scheduled datacenter maintenance that is causing some service disruption this evening. No worries. Just ride it out. I'm sure by morning they will be completely done with the work.

Thank you.

I was getting some problems with my home connection earlier tonight. I used a VPN and it was fine. Right now after fixed intervals, the error page comes up, still it's not a big issue. Although for some of my buddies HF is down totally.

Pretty sure they are changing some router and networking equipment. Anyways, we don't need 200 replies all with the same "thanks for the info."
