At this time I am not looking to recruit anyone else.

I've a fairly solid team whom have been with me a long time at this point whom I've mentored and in some cases helped succeed in their respective businesses, should one of them decide to leave or we get an influx of orders that I can't handle, I'll surely open a recruitment.

WOLGA - June 21, 2015, 10:31 am

I'll be graduating within a couple of months with an Economics/Business Administration degree if that eases your mind at all.

And if you'd like to talk about one of the services that are offered with me before purchasing that's totally fine;

Appreciate the kind words.

We're still taking orders and I am always open to talk to anyone interested about what it is we do.

Savage Matt - July 3, 2015, 7:58 pm

Quick update, We've had a steady flow of customers since EnronServices has launched. Some are people from Hackforums and others are from a different site or simply off the web. We have nothing but 100% positive support so far from our clients. We are always available for questions and ready to take orders.

Enronitis - July 3, 2015, 8:51 pm

We've had several users concerned about us running their businesses, stealing customers or running off with their money; So I'm posting to let those concerned know that any and all services offered can be done so under contract if requested.

We provide contracts for all of our services so as to protect our clients as well as ourselves and have used them quite a number of times, these contracts are included at no extra cost and are signed prior to any money exchanging hands or any services being rendered. I'm also able and willing to forward a hard-copy of the executed contract to your home residence or an equivalent address if requested.

(Jul 6, 2015 06:28 PM)The Fro Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Links to completed client jobs?

I'll need to ask permission from my clients to do so as all thus far have had jobs done under contract and I am not looking to break any agreed upon terms.

I will send out a few messages to request permission to post site links as well as comments, or reviews written by the clients themselves.

I'll update this post, or update the OP when I've my results from such. ?

Savage Matt - July 12, 2015, 12:31 pm

Just finished another job, Ready to work! Send any questions to Enron or myself. We'll be happy to assist you.

HerrGee - July 20, 2015, 8:08 am

So basically I could just start up an idea and a website and if I'd pay you a sufficient amount you'd the the most work in brining the traffic which in turn brings the profit in?

I assume that you don't do blackhats and any other shady stuff (just to clarify, maybe for others. my idea does not involve blackhat but it may be useful for others)
