R?DSPY - June 16, 2015, 8:41 pm

Not like it matters.

This is my second feedback thread after another year of Hackforums because on my first feedback thread, it was mostly about me, me and me. I haven't really critiqued hackforums, so I decided to wait another year and post this. Most of my stuff from the past is cringey as fuck because I was still in that "Fuck upgraded members" state of mind.

Also, I forgot how to make a proper feedback thread, sorry.

Some back story:

Why did I join HF? Out of desperation, there was some hackers and I wanted to learn how to stop them.

Overall, 2014 - 2015 was a pretty shitastic year. There were plenty of family and money problems, they've really never affected me a lot until this year, so yeah. You might know me as that rebellious and noisy regular member from 2014 - 2013.

Also, I'm going to admit, I was 12 when I joined this forum. You can tell from my early threads, they were all made by a twelve year old. Dunno if it's against the rules to say this, but I'm 14 now, so are things cool?

I don't have my stats from being a regular member and the closest estimate I got was:

Profile: <https://hackforums.net/member.php?act...id=1839419>

Posts: 5,000+

Reputation: 350 - 390

Prestige: No one gives a crap about prestige.

What I have given back to the community: Before I was l33t and shit, I actually upgraded one of my friends to 3P1C. Sweetie <- Check him out, he's a cool guy/girl.

I've done multiple omni-coin giveaways.

And made the community a shittier place with my lq posts.

So yep. That's it for now, let's talk about the community:

It's getting worse, undoubtedly. More scammers, spammers and trolls are active on this forum, which sucks because around a year ago, even trolls responded with somewhat intelligent smart-ass responses. Now it's all le dank meymeys and it's not even that funny after the 40th time.

How do I think HF should improve:

1. (Nevergoingto happen but i'm going to add it anyway) Staff should be involved in deal disputes. I have never been so disappointed when I find out that innocent people have been scammed and the scammer doesn't even respond, or sometimes the scammer even acknowledges that he scammed and when there's clear evidence he has done something, there's no consequence. I remember that Anonymous scamming, and wow. A man could pay his rent for a long ass time if he invests in his account and scam all at once.

Now I know staff are busy as hell, so hire some more. Not as easy as it sounds, but perhaps there's one special guy that can handle all of the disputes and be trusted at the same time.

2. eBooks. Not your hacking/education ebooks, but money making eBooks. Now, you're going to say "Well, you bought it and it was your choice, who cares if you got a public method", that's understandable. But even so, most of the time they false advertise the amount of methods, unlimited support and unlimited refunds. Removing eBooks is never going to happen as well, this is most likely Omni's main source of income. I don't blame him a single bit.

3. A Vouch system. I heard it was going to be developed soon, that would be fantastic.

4. The Marketplace. If you bought a product and leave a negative review = sales trashing.

That's all I can think of for now.

Groups review: I've never really been/encountered a group, so that's none of my fucking business.

Staff Review: Besides Viral Dragon, I've really never encountered anyone else. Oh yeah, you fucking rock Viral.

Shout-outs: The main part where most members flock too because they want to check if their name is there.

This is for all of my friends that have either got their account closed or disappeared. You fucking faggots, where the hell have you guys been?

[Video: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=csz8u1bvHRc>]

This goes to: Vamporno, Sweetie, Aggron, DotPSD, RelationShit, Godshawk, Helios, and Cybersaint. It's fucking gay that most of my hackforum friends either get closed or just disappear. Sucks, I would give my l33t and my stats away just so we could have fun like the old days. I still remember my homies such as FrankLucas, ?Dødggygeez, RifletheHunter and Black Soul, love you guys, keep your head up.

Now the regular shout-outs:

Roger Waters: Really funny dude, he's my favorite mentor out of all of them and he's old as hell.

Trisomy 21: Some of your posts are funny as hell, but it's slowly loosing it's shock value. This goes for that Shockley dude as well.

And everyone that has been with me since day one, appreciate it.

What I plan on doing soon: Learn how to program starting from HTML and learn more about skiddish hacking. I haven't really invested my time, because I got so little of it.

What I won't do:

Sell my account

Scam People

Well, that's it for me. I hope I haven't gotten too irrelevant and this thread just passes without a glimpse. Thanks for the years guys.

I don't think HF deserves a feedback thread every year. Hell, I haven't even done one yet and I've been here for 5 years.

Still though, good input on the site. Thanks, now you don't need to make another.

R?DSPY, my brother!

I am so surprised you actually remembered me, aha. My, G! It's been a long time nice to see you're still active-ish :D I honestly seen one of your posts yesterday and I thought shiiiiit, my don, I haven't heard from you in fuck knows how long! Now you've done a feedback thread and gave me a cheeky, lil' shoutout - loving it mate!

I also love how you've addressed your concerns and this is real talk:

Decent feedback thread. Could've been more detailed, but it gives us insight about your opinion, and that's what a feedback thread is for.
