Thread: Crypto | Official Cryptocurrency Group | Open Recruitment

Ventures - June 18, 2015, 10:55 am

A unification of sophisticated individuals who share a keen interest in cryptocurrency, currency exchanging, and helping the community of Hack Forums.

Rather than having a cliché application format where members are bound to just lie, we will simply uphold a YES or NO format.

We will then personally review your profile to confirm the legitimacy of your answers, to ultimately deem you applicable or not.

FAQ

Q: Why Crypto?

A: Crypto is a group containing a plethora of experienced individuals who strive in the cryptocurrency and currency exchanging fields.

Not only will you feel like apart of the family, but you will be able to participate in currently ongoing projects, and further expand your crypto knowledge.

Q: What happens after I post my application?

A: We will review your application within 48 hours, and if we like what we see you will be sent an invite.

Please do not PM me to check your application, as I will be going through all of them.

Q: Can I get friends to vouch for me, or reserve posts?

A: Reserving your post for an application, or having your friend vouch for your application has little to no effect on my decision.

Q: Who can apply?

A: Cryptocurrency enthusiasts, and official exchangers.

We are also looking for talented designers, programmers, and web developers who would like to help with group projects.

Q: Do you accept buy-ins?

A: No we do not, and I doubt we ever will.

If you have any other questions unrelated to your application, please let me know.

I know it's not part of the application form, but I feel like it's a bit to restricting and to little information given, so I hope this doesn't jeopardize my application, but I feel like I should talk a bit more about myself!

What is your experience with crypto currency?:

Well, I haven't done much mining, but I've been doing a lot of gambling with BTC along with purchasing crypto currencies while in low value and try and sell them for a profit when the price goes up!

Why should we accept you?:

I feel that I should be accepted because I am quite active on the forums, I mess around a lot with BTC's try to earn some money, gamble, trade, so on so forth! Along with the fact that I am a very nice and easy going person, I like working in groups and contributing to group projects in anyway I can!

Tell us a bit about yourself:

Well, my name is Charlie, and I currently 18 years old, I grew up in Sweden, but moved to Ireland about 4 years ago where I currently live. I spend most of my days on the computer working on animations, or trying to earn a bit of spending cash! Don't really have many hobbies other than animating!

Do you have any crypto coin experience? (Y/N): Yes, I have plentiful experience in Bitcoin and altcoins. I know my way around cryptocurrency and have been around it for years. Recently I have started exchanging cryptocurrency in the subforum and hope to open up my own exchange shop soon. I feel that I could be a valuable representative of this group's image of HQ exchangers.

Do you have any currency exchanging experience? (Y/N): I have a lot of experience in currency exchange. I have done many, many deals on HF and as I said before I plan on opening up my own exchange service. My reputation speaks for itself; I'm a legitimate and trustworthy exchanger.

Do you have experience with designing, programming, or web development? (Y/N): I have 3 years+ experience in graphic design in Photoshop and about the same years experience in coding. In my years, I have programmed in C, C++, ASM, Java, VB.NET, and C#. Needless to say I know my way around a keyboard when it comes to programming. Here is a small graphic portfolio I have put together: <http://phaxol.minus.com/>

Do you have a notable amount of posts in the crypto coin section, or the currency exchanging section? (Y/N): I have 32 posts in the currency exchange section which I admit is not very notable, but almost every single one of those post is vouching for a successfully completed deal. For just starting exchanging not too long ago, I would say that's a pretty decent amount :) not to mention the count grows everyday and is the main section I post in

Are you willing to be active within the SF, and put in an effort to contribute? (Y/N): Definitely, I feel I would be a valuable asset to this group ? I will be holding giveaways in the name of the group and such.

Are you willing to maintain a drama free environment, and participate in group projects? (Y/N): Fuck yeah, I'm a chill dude I have no time for drama haha. I would definitely contribute in group projects and I actually may have a project that we can work on and profit.

Thanks for taking the time to read my application and consider me for a position in Crypto, it means a lot ? have a nice day!

Do you have any crypto coin experience? (Y/N): Not quite. I've worked on a design for a project that used BLAKE2b Merkle trees over Ed25519 signatures to form a distributed notary system to make targeted attacks impractical.

Do you have any currency exchanging experience? (Y/N): Nope.

Do you have experience with designing, programming, or web development? (Y/N): Extensive! I do quite a bit of cryptography engineering (and code auditing) for clients through my employer.

Do you have a notable amount of posts in the crypto coin section, or the currency exchanging section? (Y/N): Not yet, but counteroffer: A thread discussing a 0day remote MD5 cracking strategy without access to the target's hashes.

I think that I might add a few more parts to my application as the original layout doesn't seem for me too to present all my knowledge on Crypto currencies.

[img]http://i.ipixls.net/YtgkEcs.png[/img]

My experience in crypto currencies:

I've been doing a lot of gambling with BTC along with purchasing crypto currencies. I haven't mined that much, but I keep my eye on the values on the currencies for which currency to invest for having the most probable rise.

[img]http://i.ipixls.net/YtgkEcs.png[/img]

Why me?:

As I'm quite active along the forum and have a deep interest in crypto currencies, along with the fact that I love to try and gamble my attitude of being friendly. I like working in groups too, contributing to the projects and learn.

Do you have any crypto coin experience? (Y/N): I have a fair amount of experience buying and selling a variety of cryptocurrencies, primarily Bitcoin. I also have solid understanding of the blockchain and the technology and theory behind it as well as how we can interact with and make use of it.

Do you have any currency exchanging experience? (Y/N): I have a fair amount of experience exchanging crypto currencies, primarily Bitcoin as I stated above. I do exchange fairly regularly so I would consider myself an active exchanger.

Do you have experience with designing, programming, or web development? (Y/N): I have a wealth of experience with backend development however my primary area is network design and theory.

Do you have a notable amount of posts in the crypto coin section, or the currency exchanging section? (Y/N): As it stands I don't have very many posts in these sections however I do engage in crypto currency discussion outside of this forum fairly regularly. I would definitely consider spending more time in these sections though.

Are you willing to be active within the SF, and put in an effort to contribute? (Y/N): Although I have very few posts, especially considering my tenure, I have actually been quite active lately. I was inactive for a very long time however I have recently returned and have been posting quite a lot - primarily in group subforums.

Are you willing to maintain a drama free environment, and participate in group projects? (Y/N): Outside of the occasional bit of lounge banter I do enjoy and prefer being in a drama free environment. With regards to group projects I would definitely like to get involved as much as possible and make my skills available to the group. My main reason for applying is to get involved in crypto currency related projects.

Thanks! ?
