Thread: [\[Learning to use a free RAT/Learning to use free RAT's\]](#)

Marijuana ▯ - June 22, 2015, 8:21 pm

I am new to hacking and people on the forums tell me I should learn to code and use a RAT first.

Does anyone have any suggestions for what free RAT I can get, and if there is no free RAT's then I'll consider buying one.

Thanks Hack Forums!

njRAT, DarkComet (Though it's old)
Just find them on HF

Well, hackforums has got a whole separate section for Remote Administration Tools.

I would suggest you to go visit RAT section, and you will find some detailed tutorials on some Free RATs, like njRat/DarkComet.

I'd recommend you too start off with DarkComet, you can find a good download in the RAT section, but you should know. The hard part with and kind of infecting (RAT,Botnet, w/e) is not installing it and getting it to work, it's to get it crypted and still have it stable. But after all, it's all a question of your programming skill or money.

Use xrat, its my favourite free rat. Its is amazing. If you have got hold of that and can rat comfortably then move on to a paid one, the best would be link, after that probs nano core. If you can't portforward you could buy optics php rat for $9.99. Very cheap for a rat that doesn't forwarding.
