Thread: Ataraxis' Feedback / 3 Years / 4000+ Posts / 680+ Reputation

King Cin - June 25, 2015, 3:39 pm

Intro

I'm Ataraxis. I often change my name, so you may know me by my other alias Unknown • and possibly 'Cinnamon. I joined HackForums in order to improve my Batch & Python skills. Eventually learned a bit more, but dropped them later on. I decided I liked computing and malware removal more. I'm not actually improving my skills at the moment, as I have a lot of things to do in real life at the moment, that will impact the rest of my life. Throughout these 3 years I have made many friends.

Tab Feedback

Common: Aside from The Lounge and Vices, this is a decent tab. I really enjoy helping people out in Innuendo, and the people in the Health Wise section are amazing. I don't really have a vast opinion about SRPP. Some of the threads in there are a great read and have a lot of potential, but some of the threads just make me cringe repeatedly. Anime Adventures is a solid 3/10, since most of the threads there are very repetitive and it's basically weaboo city, but you can find some good threads once in a while, like the AA Secret Santa project. News and Happening does it's job. Music/Entertainment sections could be more active, but I hop in there from time to time to share some of my opinions.

Hacking: I can't even. Th3PonyWizard had a great thread regarding this section, though Omni already rejected most of it.

Tech: Great place, great debates. Some sections are a little bit inactive, but not everyone is into technology on this forum, strangely enough. The WHH section has changed a lot since I was very active there, and it seems like it has changed for the better.

Code: Mostly repetitive threads. It isn't necessarily a bad tab, but the members in there just have to do more research before posting.

Game: Nothing bad, nothing impressive either. I've had some good debates there but it's mostly flame wars between fanboys of games series or consoles. League of Legends and CSGO sections are decent though.

Web: I rarely visit this section, so I don't think I can give any feedback regarding this section.

GFX: There are some decent GFX battles going on here from time to time. The paid graphic section does it's job. It's such a shame that the photography section isn't all that active.

Market: The marketplace is full with the same products, with most of them being shitty. There are some decent products or services being sold here, and if I need something like an account, this is definitely the place to be. We all know there are a lot of scammers, but I don't have anything to add regarding that, people should be more careful, I've done ~30 deals on here and all went smooth.

Money: Repetitive threads, some members try to improve this section, but progress isn't really showing. Flooded with eBooks that aren't worth anything as well. But hey, who am I to judge.

Groups

Archive: Only noticeable thing I've seen so far is Sam's thread in the deal dispute section which has had positive results. I'm sure adam and Tommy have plans regarding the future of this group. I'll be watching.

Crypto: A group that discusses Crypto Currency. zSerity is a cool guy. So far it seems like a slightly better version of Miners.

Debug: Had potential, went to shit.

Echo: All the members I see from this group give me the same vibe. It looks like the members are enjoying their stay in it though. That's what matters with a group like Echo.

Instinct: A group for gamers. I've been in Instinct/Nightfall 3 times. It's a fun group, but just not for me. I can enjoy it for a couple of weeks but I go inactive after that. A lot of the other members see it as their favorite group though. Good for them.

Void 2: I've never been inside of the subforum of Void, but from the outside I have mixed feelings. I really like Hexi as a person. Most members seem like nice, intellectual people, but some of them look like suffer from severe mental illness.

Null: Null is a very interesting group. They have a lot of knowledgeable members at their disposal, and offer some great services. I have some friends within Null, and I've heard positive things.

Red Lions: Spoiler (Click to View)
[img]http://www.globalchristianforum.org/img/800/desert01.jpg[/img]

Specialists: I've seen some helpful threads by Specialists lately. If the group keeps going this direction, great.

The Brotherhood: I've heard some interesting things about what's coming. Let's see.

Titans: Most likely the group that benefits the community the most. Keep up the events.

AnimeFAN!: Weaboo Town. I'm not a weaboo myself. I just enjoy watching anime from time to time and discussing it. But the people in this group are great and weird in a fun way. It's a small family with members that share a lot of interests.

Pirates: Pirates just feels like high school all over again. Very laid-back, with a lot of different people.

Other Suggestions

I don't feel the need for anything besides a vouch system, which is said to be developed, and possibly more themes. All of the staff do their jobs, especially VD. Omni has been working hard as well. Keep up the good job guys.

Shoutouts

Just a quick mention to the members that have impacted me the most on this forum. Thanks guys.

Great talking with you. You've been one of my long time friends on here.

Aura

I wrote songs and poems about you. Thanks for leading The Order with me. We had some great laughs as well.

Obli

We should talk again some time. I really enjoy talking with you, and you've been a nice guy all along.

Th3PonyWizard

I still remember laughing so much when The Order was still around. Thanks for leading it with me. The Empire's General Hacking Sector was fun as well.

You really have to tell me how old you are.

Also a huge thanks to every member of The Empire when it was still around. The Empire will always be my favorite group, and it wouldn't have been as awesome without all of you.

Best feedback 2k15. I remember The Order, why did it die again? It was the best non-official group ever.

Jake Miller - June 30, 2015, 8:03 pm

I remember you from The Empire, we chatted casually in the lounges. Nice to see you still around.
