Thread: Omnicoon on CoinGecko

Omnicoon has been added to coingecko.com

<https://www.coingecko.com/en/coins/omnicon>

Another cool achievement, because Coin Gecko is a great market cap site. And now we can use this embedded price ticker:

severos - June 27, 2015, 2:21 am

That's good news, but I still see the price going down after that big pump from the auction, hopefully this will rise the attention to the coin and make it more popular.

NiktoKan - June 27, 2015, 2:41 am

Block reward = 66.85 actually is for starting. Now already drop to 1+

CoinGecko have lot of info eg. Facebook Like, Twitter Followers.

Some more got Hardware Cost for 51% Attack = ~$12,942.04.

Just took another look at it and saw that we don't really have social activity for the coin, shouldn't we discuss a way to solve this or??

I run the Omnicon twitter account, but Omnicon doesn't have an official Facebook page. We also have an official reddit but it is pretty dead at the moment.

I'd offer to help with a Facebook with permission, but I'm leaving for bootcamp for the Navy in twenty-some-odd days. I could get it setup and looking pretty, but that's about it.

I can take it over than. If you wish to set it up and make it look good, I can keep it active later. It'd be awesome ?

Well, social media attractions are sometimes a major key in the popularity of the product.

Errm. I've never heard of you. Sorry, but the only people I would ever turn it over to are those on the Omnicoin development team, and considering Crypto and I are close friends, you can bet your bottom dollar I'd likely turn it over to him.

As you wish. I'm just saying that I have enough time to keep it active and up to date.

My offer will still be valid in the future, if you change your mind. ?

Crypto is almost completely inactive nowadays, it would have to be me or Abraham Lincoln.

Ishmel - June 28, 2015, 9:44 pm

Don't we already have a Facebook page? @omnicoinnews? I already own the FB Omnicoin.

Well it could also be me, except I don't want to ;). No, Crypto is not very active at the moment.

Well, seeing as I've taken classes in marketing, and I'm about to get trained by the Navy for public relations; in two-and-a-half months when I get out of boot-camp, I'll volunteer as tribute to be the OMC PR manager. ?

Didnt you used to be that anyway? It would be good to have you back :)

I was, but then I needed to take a break from HF for school. Once I get out of boot-camp, I'd be glad to rejoin the team.

Seeing as you seem to approve of my wanting to rejoin the team, I'll see about getting a Facebook page setup to start. While I can't write content for it, I can get it looking sexy with properly made graphics for the banner and whatnot; then I can add the rest of the team to be able to post content to it. Obviously, I'll get a lot more than that going once I get out of boot-camp.

This is a pretty awesome achievement, I am getting more active into the Omnicoin scene.
