A community for the lewd.

Lewd is a community that absolutely adores 2d qts.

We understand them long nights you spend looking at hentai and ecchi on fakku, exhentai, and/or pururin.

Gonna edit this thread after work.

Questions or Criticism?

If you have any questions or any form of criticism, feel free to let me know. :)

I might shorten that timer a little. 15 seconds for three fields is a little excessive.

As all images are proxied through Heroku (so images don't break our SSL), we have to obey their terms and conditions.

I might consider disabling the proxy in a private group subforum, if requested though.

It's really nice but you should add more sub forums so people can have different things to talk about.

(Jul 4, 2015 07:25 PM)?nime Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) you should add more sub forums so people can have different things to talk about.

I only create new sub forums when there's already enough content for that specific topic. (an example would be how mis requested a doujin category, after there was already like twenty doujin threads in our Lewd category).

If you'd like a sub forum created, and there isn't already five threads discussing the topic, you can discuss them in our Lounge and Ebola categories until there's enough content to create a sub forum for.

I do it this way because having a few populated categories is more welcoming than a lot of empty categories.

Alternatively you could create a custom group.

Hmm, it's not enough that we're a completely free community that's continually improved upon and developed, and is full of really friendly members that come from all over the internet? ;)

I could rabble on and give you a long list of things that would convince myself to join, but everyone's different, so I'd rather not. I'll just say, listen to the feedback we've gotten in this thread (apart for the one guy that dived straight towards the nsfw content).

If you're unsure about the community, you could always give it a try and I would delete your account for you if you're unhappy with the experience.

If you do have any questions/concerns/suggestions/criticisms, don't hesitate to let me know. :)
